WILSON DETERMINED NOT TO GET EXCITED OVER MEXIC AFFAIRS

Though Demanding Redress of Dixon Shooting, That Incident Does Not Affect Administration's General Policy

WILL LEARN THE FACTS BEFORE TAKING ACTION

Is Proceeding Calmly and Deliberately, and Doesn't Believe the American People Are Wrought Up

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—In spite of the manifold sensations circulated through the county in regard to the Mexican situation since the return of Ambassador Wilson to the United States, The Journal has high authority for the statement that nothing has occurred to corroborate any of them.

The administration has received some information contradicting the reports about the instability of the Huerta government in Mexico, but it has also received some confirming the original information that the Huerta regime cannot stand. So that question is left where it was, with the administration mind open and the belief in the shaky nature of the Huerta tenure not removed.

Ambassador Wilson has had conferences with Secretary of State Bryan since his arrival in Washington. President Wilson has read the ambassador's written report on Mexico. The president and the ambassador are to have a personal conference at 2:30 this afternoon. But out of it all there is no corroboration of any of the circulated statements of ultimatums and peace suggestions alleged to have been sent to ——— by the United States govern-

IS SEEKING LIGHT.

The exact truth is that the administration is still seeking light. It does not feel it has sufficient information. It will not act in any direction until it has what it regards as comprehensive knowledge. And it is not relaxing in its effort to secure such knowledge. It is evident from this that Ambassador Wilson's written report or statement as not had an overwhelming effect upon the president, since the administration has studied this report and is proceeding through various independent channels to procure more information.

One grain of truth contained in all the volume of matter spread abroad since last Saturday is to be found in the allegation that the administration is proceeding in a stern and uncompromising manner to bring justice out of the shooting of Charles B. Dixon, United States immigration official at Juarez, Mexico, last Saturday. On that question there is to be no faltering. But there has been no communication with the Huerta government in regard to the general situation; no suggestion of any kind as to means of adjusting peace in Mexico, and no consideration of any kind of intervention.

WILL REMAIN CALM.

President Wilson does not believe, the people of the United States are in a condition of excitement in regard to Mexico. He proposes himself to remain calm. He will continue to seek information. He is making up his mind about the entire matter and when he has made it up, he will give the country a definite program of procedure, provided then he believes such a program justifiable. In the meantime he regards the situation exactly as it has been, and he has no idea how long it will be until he feels assured that he knows all there is to know about the situation in Mexico. He simply is using all the means at his command to learn what he feels he must know before he will be in a position to decide whether to act or not to act.

While the conference with Ambassador Wilson this afternoon is intended to be long and searching, it can be stated that it is not the intention of the president to decide this afternoon upon the question of permitting the ambassador's return to Mexico. That matter, it is indicated, will have to wait till the president has sifted the information now at his command. Of course, it is expected that the ambassador's standing will be interpreted and decided officially before he leaves Washington, but even this is not at all certain at this time.

Rebel Mexic Governor Takes Rap at Wilson

(By Associated Press.)

EAGLE PASS, Tex., July 28.—The following statement about American Ambassador to Mexico Henry Lane Wilson was today telegraphed to President Wilson by Governor Vales, of the state of Yucatan, Mexico, now in Piedras Negras, the constitutionalist's provisional capital:

"I am the constitutional governor of Yucatan, having been elected December, 1911, and still holding under the constitution and laws of Mexico.

"I am the brother-in-law of Vice President Pino Suarez, and was in Mexico City with my family during the February revolution, when on the 19th it became necessary for me to flee to save my life. My wife subsequently called on Ambassador Wilson and he told her that it was necessary she should telegraph me at once and urge me strongly to recognize General Huerta as president of the republic."

Valez also stated in his telegram that Ambassador Wilson threatened him with what would happen if he did not recognize the Huerta administration.

WHITEY ALPERMAN GOES UNDER KNIFE FOR APPENDICITIS

IS RESTING EASILY FOLLOWING OPERATION

He Is One of South's Best-Known Ball Players—Smith Hopeful of Pennant, Despite Handicap

"Whitey" Alperman is out of the game with appendicitis.

President Callaway was notified of this Monday morning by Billy Smith.

Alperman was taken to a hospital in Mobile, where the team now is for a series of three games, and was operated upon by Dr. Inge.

Just at this critical period in the race Alperman's illness comes as a big blow to Smith's pennant chances, but Billy is not despairing and believes even though the blond infielder may not be back in the game for several weeks or possibly the entire season, the Cracker team will still be right in the race with Birmingham and Montgomery for the pennant. The Atlanta team is now in third place and has lost the last three games it has played.

Alperman is captain of the Atlanta team and around him most of the brainy plays of the infield hinge. He is scrappy, brainy and always up to the notch. When Charley Hemphill blew last season Alperman took hold of his hopeless tail-end aggregation and made as good finish as any other manager in the world could have done.

Smith Takes Alperman's Place at Second Base

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MOBILE, Ala., July 28.—Captain "Whitey" Alperman, second baseman of the Atlanta baseball team, is resting really following an operation on him today for appendicitis. He will not be able to get back in the game this season.

Smith succeeds Alperman at second base; Manush goes to third base, and Outfielder Holtz, from Selma, will report tomorrow.

The operation on Alperman began at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The player fought hard all night to avoid going under the knife, but his condition was such at 9 o'clock today that Dr. A. T. Inge found that the use of the knife was absolutely necessary.

U. S. TENNIS TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF WORLD

Maurice E. McLoughlin Wins Deciding Match for Davis International Trophy

(By Associated Press.)

WIMBLEDON, July 28.—The United States lawn tennis team carried off the world's championship today when Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, won the fourth and deciding match in the contest with England for the Dwight F. Davis international trophy.

McLoughlin, the American national champion, was drawn against Charles P. Dixon, and won in straight sets, 8-6, 6-2, 6-2.

The first set was hard fought, but Dixon was in the lead only once. As soon as McLoughlin steadied down to his work, he had the Englishman at his mercy. The second and third sets were easy for the brilliant American, who was playing at the top of his game.

There was an immense crowd in the stands. Summer skies and a high temperature greeted the players. These conditions suited the American competitors better than the weather prevailing during the preceding two days.

Dixon had showed considerable confidence before the game started, declaring in characteristic English slang: "I am going after McLoughlin baldheaded." The United States lost the Davis cup to England in 1903. Australia took it away from England in 1907. It remained in Australia until 1912, when it was won again by England, which has now lost it to the United States.

The preliminary contest this year was participated in by seven nations—the United States, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Germany, France and Belgium.

The United States team fought its way through to the final round.

The Davis cup, emblematic of the world's team championship in lawn tennis, which returns to this country after an absence of ten years, was first put into play in 1900. The trophy—a massive silver bowl—was the gift of Dwight F. Davis, who donated it with the idea of stimulating international competition in the court game.

The success of the plan was assured from the beginning. The cup has been in play twelve seasons. The United States and England and Australia have all in turn won and lost the prize.

Score by points third set:

McLoughlin, 444, 427, 14-20 points, six games.

Dixon, 219, 145, 40-17 points, two games.

During 1900 and 1902 the United States team successfully defended the cup against the attack of the British isles players. In 1903 the Dougherty brothers carried it away to England. In 1907 the famous Antipodean players, Brookes and Wilding, took the cup to Australia. There it stayed until last winter, when the English team—Parke,

Court Scenes at Frank Trial; How It Looks Inside and Out

Three Distinct Crowds Are There, Some Laughing, Some Whispering Speculations on Case

There were three crowds at the Frank trial Monday morning, and each had an aspect and characteristic as different as east from west—the crowd in the court room, the crowd around the door and in the street, and the throng of witnesses swarming through the upstairs rooms.

As one approached the red brick court house down Hunter street, he could see the corner near Pryor black with people. A car would turn the curve, the motorman clanging his gong vigorously before the packed mass would open and let the car grind by.

They were mostly men and boys. At intervals a woman accompanied by an escort would struggle into the doorway and up the stairs. She was a witness probably a factory girl.

Clear across Pryor street the crowd outside extended. People stood in the doorway of a drug store, in the street, in little groups on the sidewalk. It was a silent throng on the whole, speculating in whispers as to what was happening within.

DOORS CLOSED TO SCORES.

There were hardly fifty out of the hundreds without who could hope to get inside the building, yet there they were content to wait hour after hour, satisfied that they could look at the windows of the building which held a man on trial for his life.

They could see the people in the upstairs windows laughing and chatting, but beyond the guarded threshold where lawyers were fighting over jurymen

PRESENTS BILL TO GIVE MOTHER CHILD'S CUSTODY

Much Favorable Sentiment for Measure to Give Mother Rights to Minor Children

Of general interest is the proposed change in the Georgia law by which the custody of the minor children would be given to the mother instead of to the father. The bill providing for the change has been introduced in the house by Representative John Y. Smith, of Fulton, and Representative Sam Olive, of Richmond, has joined in sponsoring the bill.

A number of influential men are interested in it, and Representative Smith is devoting much time in an effort to

With one exception the jurors for the Frank trial are married men and five are fathers. Among them is one bank teller, one bookkeeper, one real estate agent, one manufacturer, one contractor, one optician, one claim agent, one mailing clerk, two salesmen and two machinists.

The following are the jurors:

M. S. Woodward, married and father of two children, salesman at King Hardware company. He resides at 182 Clark street.

J. T. Osburn, married, and father of several children, is foreman optician of A. K. Hawk's Optical company, and resides at 46 West End Place.

A. N. Hemlee, married, is a traveling salesman and lives at 74 Oak street.

W. M. Jeffries, married, has no children. He is a real estate dealer and recently lived in Bolton, Ga.

The jury which will try Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan was selected Monday morning within the surprisingly short time of three hours, and the actual hearing of testimony was begun Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The first witnesses will be introduced by the state, and will testify to the discovery of Mary Phagan's body in the cellar of the National Pencil factory, and to other circumstances which go to prove that she was murdered.

A large part of the afternoon will be consumed by the state in making out its case. In proving that Mary Phagan was murdered, Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey probably will introduce Newt Lee, police officers and physicians who examined the body.

Indications now are that the trial will continue during this week, and probably will extend into the week following.

The jury was completed after eight panels of veniremen had been exhausted, and the last juror was the last member of the eighth panel. Had he not been eligible, other panels must have been called.

Throughout the selection of the jury, Leo M. Frank sat between his wife and his mother. He seemed confident and cheerful, frequently smiling.

The air of the court room was that of a civil rather than a criminal tribunal. The entire proceeding was free from delay or debate; and the prospect was that the trial will proceed quickly.

During the entire time spent in the selection of the jury, no unusual or dramatic incident occurred in interrupt the business of selecting the twelve men before whom Leo M. Frank is to be tried.

The court room was filled almost entirely with veniremen and lawyers, only a few spectators had been admitted to the room, and these few sat in quiet curiosity. On scarcely any question did attorneys disagree to the point of debate, and by the time of adjournment the jury was complete and ready to hear the testimony of witnesses.

Both the state and defense apparently are well pleased with the jury selected, and expect a quick and satisfactory hearing.

The state has summoned 26 witnesses and the defense over 100, 30 or more of whom are character witnesses.

After adojurnment, Frank remained for a short while in the court room, and a dozen or more friends came forward to shake hands with him. Standing beside him were his wife and his mother.

"I am satisfied, said Mrs. Frank, "with the progress of the trial and with the selection of the jury. I have no doubt whatever about the outcome of the trial. I know that my husband is innocent and that he will be acquitted."

EATS BREAKFAST AT COURT.

About 7:30 o'clock, an hour and a half before his trial was due to begin, Leo M. Frank, the accused, was brought to the court house from the county jail by Sheriff C. W. Mangum, and was secluded in one of the back rooms. Shortly afterward a relative of accused appeared with his breakfast, and the prisoner ate it in the room adjoining the jury room.

At 8:15 o'clock, before the doors of the court room were opened, some fifty people were gathered outside, waiting to gain entrance.

CONFIDENT OF ACQUITTAL.

To the relative, E. C. Essenbach, who had brought his breakfast, Frank expressed confidence that he would secure an early acquittal and be vindicated of the charge against him.

After breakfasting the prisoner spent several moments opening and reading letters which he had brought with him from the jail. Emil Selig, his father-in-law, appeared and engaged in conversation with him.

At 8:20 o'clock Judge L. S. Roan, to preside over the trial, appeared in court, and repaired to the office of the deputy clerk to await the hour for convening court.

At 8:45 o'clock the majority of the veniremen summoned for jury duty were in court. Many of them were actively interested in getting themselves excused for various reasons. Several of them claimed to be members of the militia.

One is a member of the governor's staff. Others claimed to be little better

STEAMER GOES ASHORE ON NEW JERSEY COAST

Tug Sent to Assistance of Chalmette, Bound for New York

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—The steamer Chalmette, from New Orleans for New York, went ashore during the night on the New Jersey coast off Barnegat.

In response to a wireless call from the vessel early today a tug was sent from New York to her assistance.

News of the Chalmette's plight was received by its owners, the Southern Pacific company, in a wireless message this morning from Captain P. M. Midlon. The message said:

"Ashore off Barnegat. Send tug."

At the office of the Southern Pacific company it was said that the steamer probably was not in a dangerous position, otherwise Captain Midlon would have made his message more urgent.

The Chalmette sailed from New Orleans July 23 and was due here today. It carried a cargo of general merchandise and a crew of forty-eight, but no passengers.

Life-Saving Crews Stand by Steamer

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—A long distance telephone message from the Little Egg Life Saving station on the New Jersey coast states that the Chalmette is ashore not on the Barnegat shoals, but near the beach between the Barnegat and Love Ladies island life saving stations, twenty miles north of Little Egg. The sea is smooth and the vessel in no immediate danger.

Life saving crews are not on duty during June and July, but Captain C. D. Thompson, keeper of the Barnegat life saving station, mustered a volunteer crew and went out to stand by the Chalmette.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE WITH SEVEN GIRLS

One Seriously Hurt, Others Bruised, Near Barnesville, Ga.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BARNESVILLE, Ga., July 28.—A big National touring car containing a party of seven young ladies was overturned and wrecked in a ditch some miles out from Barnesville.

Miss Mary Peacock, of Hawkinsville, was bruised about the head and seriously hurt.

The others escaped with only slight bruises. They are as follows:

Miss Katherine Woodburn, of Barnesville, owner of the car, who was driving; Misses Rebecca and Maggie Mae Rogers, of Barnesville; Miss Vera Pallipa, of Dublin, and Misses Anna Hill and Pearl Stephens, of Forsyth, Ga.

The young ladies were guests of Miss Woodburn and had been out for a ride. On the return trip the car struck a wet road, skidded and overturned in a ditch ten feet deep.

PLAN CONFERENCES ON UNIFORM STATE LAWS

Committee to Hold Its Twenty-Fourth Annual Meeting at Montreal August 26

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—The committee on uniform state laws, which has been holding conferences regularly for twenty-three years, seeking the reforms which are obvious from its name will meet in Montreal during the week beginning August 26. This will just precede the annual meeting of the American Bar association.

Representatives from all forty-eight states, in addition to the District of Columbia and the two territories of Alaska and Hawaii and the federal possessions of Porto Rico and the Philippines, have been urged to be present. Among the subjects for discussion will be questions on a uniform workingman's act, pure food laws and partnership and corporation acts.

The nearest approach to uniformity in state laws is that on negotiable instruments, which is now the law in forty-two states and Alaska. Twenty-six states have adopted the uniform warehouse receipts act, and Delaware, Wisconsin and New Jersey have adopted a uniform divorce act.

PARCEL POST CUP PLACED IN MUSEUM

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Among the latest additions to the collection of historic relics in the national museum, the silver loving cup, commemorative of the opening of the parcel post system, Saturday was given a prominent place. It was the first package to go through the mail under the new system and was mailed by Postmaster General Hitchcock on the first day of the present year to Postmaster Morgan at New York.

The cup bears the following inscription: "This cup was the first article sent by the parcel post in the United States. It was forwarded to Postmaster Edward M. Morgan, of New York City, by Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, who mailed it in person at the Washington city postoffice immediately after midnight on the morning of January 1, 1913. It was presented to the national museum by Postmaster Morgan."

The cup is eighteen inches high and double-handled. It is severely plain.

ATLANTA MAN BUYS BIG FARM NEAR THOMASVILLE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 28.—The Hopkins Real Estate agency has just sold to John S. Lester, of Atlanta what is known as the Winn plantation, near Lake Pamonia, some miles below here across the Florida line. This property was formerly owned by the Winn family, of this city, and comprises some of the finest farming land in this section. The property consists of 1,048 acres, and the purchase price was $12,500. Mr. Lester was a former resident of Thomasville, but for some time past has been living in Atlanta, associated in business with his brother-in-law, H. N. White. It is not known what disposition he will make of the property.

CRYING FOR HER SON, SHE LEAPS INTO RIVER

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 28.—Despondent and crying for her son, who was not allowed to live with her, Mrs. Mary Shallwood, aged thirty-six, committed suicide last night by jumping off the wharf into the Chattahoochee river. The body was found this morning and the coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

Kindergarten Bill a Special Order for Tuesday.

The kindergarten bill, set as a special order, will come up before the house committee on education Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. A preliminary hearing was given the measure last week and action defered owing to the lateness of the hour when all arguments pro and con had been submitted.

Even though the measure is practically certain to receive a favorable recommendation, it is equally certain that a minority report, headed by Representative E. H. McMichael, of Marion, speaker pro tem, will be filed. Just how many will attach their names to the report is not known, though there is a general belief that more than three members in all will go on record as voting against the bill.

When Representative Cole Breaks His Silence on the House Floor.

It may seem inconceivable to some to know that Representative E. D. Cole, of Bartow, vice chairman of the ways and means committee, is going to be heard from on the floor of the house when the Lipscomb tax equalization bill comes up for final action this week. And it is all the reason of the fact that Mr. Cole has been one of the quiet members thus far, mainly because nothing has come up that particularly appealed to him.

In committee hearings, however, he has been anything but quiet. Rather has he been most active, and especially so in the committee hearing of which he is vice chairman. The gentleman from Bartow is one of the original state board champions and accordingly is numbered among the majority favoring such a bill. When his committee appeared hopelessly split and the state board feature of the measure hung in the balance, and it seemed as though it were lost, he got busy, and the result is known to every politician in Georgia.

And so it has come to pass that Mr. Cole, having shown in the committee room that he can fight, will carry that same spirit of aggressiveness to the floor for the first time since he has been a member of the general assembly and show the members that he has no intention of confining his activities to the inner circle.

He is level headed, sincere and above all true to his colors. He has pledged his support to the state board and the majority need never fear for his loyalty. As has been said he is going to show himself the same indomitable scrapper on the floor as he has demonstrated his capabilities along this line in the committee meetings.

Industrial Home Bill in Hands of Special Sub-committee.

The house bill to establish a home for wayward girls in Georgia is scheduled to come up for final action this week. It is now in the hands of a special sub-committee appointed by the appropriations committee to ascertain the minimum amount of money necessary to establish and maintain such an institution.

This committee is composed of Representatives William H. Griffin, of Lowndes; A. B. Greene, of Houston, and S. E. Berry, of Whitfield.

The proposal to establish a home for wayward girls has met with the almost unanimous approval of the individual members of the legislature. The opposition to the idea has developed from any source, and the only question now involved is that of making arrangements to finance the institution.

The bill was originally referred to the penitentiary committee, which investigated it fully and recommended it for passage. It was then re-referred to the appropriations committee, and on Friday afternoon of last week Representative Garland M. Jones, of Coweta, author of the bill, appeared before the committee to explain the need of such a measure.

Mr. Jones pointed out that such institutions were not in the experimental or theoretical stage, since they had already been established in thirty-four states with splendid results. In Georgia, he said, a situation had grown up which had to be met. It was the prime duty of the state, he declared, to make some provision for girls who were wayward but who might be reclaimed if surrounded by the proper influences.

Strong sentiment in favor of the measure has developed in the senate. One of the strongest interviews given out this summer on the advisability of creating such an institution came from President Randolph Anderson.

Governor Slaton Again Urges Tax Reform.

Governor John M. Slaton again has put himself on record as strongly favoring tax equalization as the best means to meet the financial needs of the state and as a means whereby the present deficit will be wiped out.

The governor makes it clear that equalization does not necessarily mean an increase in tax burdens, but rather distributes the burden equally so that none may suffer. Those, he declares, who are against the measures to this end are the ones who are not giving their full returns and in this way allowing those who have been dealing fairly with the state to pay the freight. He calls especial attention to invisible property and urges that this should appear on the books as well as that which is known to the assessors.

One of the urgent needs of this reform, said Governor Slaton, is to find a means for bringing in money to the treasury with which to meet the appropriations of the next two years.

Bearing directly on this point he declares:

"It is incredible that the legislature will instruct the governor to sign warrants for money which has not been provided."

Rome Tribune-Herald Favors Vital Statistics Bill.

The Rome Tribune-Herald leaves no doubt of its position in reference to the vital statistics bill now pending before the legislature in an editorial appearing in a recent issue.

It points out the tremendous importance of the accurate recording of births and deaths, not only from a sanitary standpoint but to judicial and legal research such as the establishment of descent and relationship and proof of age in the absence of the proper documentary evidence.

The editorial says in part:

"The only way to ascertain the health of a community is from reliable vital satistics and the establishment of the good health of a locality by such records is the only way to promote desirable immigration to the place and desirable immigration is one of the greatest needs of Georgia. For in*stance, if Rome had a reliable method* of recording statistics and if these were advertised, without a doubt such advertisement would bring more people to this city than anything else.

"Then again, the prevention of disease and the application of remedial measures in a locality known to be unhealthy are absolutely dependent upon information only obtainable from mortality records. In fact, the progress of sanitary and medical science rests upon the uniform and proper registration of deaths with the causes for these.

"Such registration in the United States is confined only to a few commonwealths—the most progressive. Haphazard and unreliable registration, mostly dependent upon the honesty of physicians, is to be found in the larger cities.

"For the above reasons and many others obvious to the students of progress in medicine and sanitation, we urge the immediate passage of an effective law providing for the uniform registration of vital statistics."

School Book Problem an Important One, Says Exchange.

The Graymont Hustler has placed itself squarely behind Representative McCrory, of Schley, in his fight for cheaper books for the school children of Georgia. Commenting on the question in an editorial laconically entitled "At Last," the Hustler says:

"After many years the Georgia legislature has taken into serious consideration the excessive price which the people of Georgia have been forced to pay for their school books all these many years. This question is decidedly more important than all the petty local bills put together, which have always been taken up first. The time of our law makers and these men are doing the good people of Georgia an injustice by not doing something to relieve this oppressive burden. This has always been a thorn in the sides of Georgia's people and they have borne it slightly long enough. This is especially oppressive on the poorer people, and it is a matter worthy of the most serious efforts of our worthy lawmakers. There is no reason in the world why the state of Georgia cannot print her school books with a great saving to her people. This could be operated with no added expense to the state, for after all she could sell her books at a price which would enable her to clear all expenses. We hope the present legisla*ture will do something* to relieve this oppressive state of affairs."

He Strongly Approves Law to Give Mother Custody of Children.

"Protect the mother and child as well as the pig and 'possum," urges W. B. Sloan, a Gainesville attorney, in a letter to Representative Samuel L. Olive. Mr. Sloan's letter follows the recent letter of Judge Hammond advocating the enactment of a law giving to mothers the custody of minor children.

Mr. Sloan characterizes the present law as a relic of the barbarous age and suggests an immediate change.

The letter follows:

"Hon. Samuel L. Olive, Atlanta, Ga.

"Sir: I have read the letter of Judge Hammond to you suggesting a law giving to women the custody of her children until their majority, and was gratified to learn that this change in the ancient and absurd law was advocated by a judge like Judge Hammond.

"Judge Hammond well said that the law which now gives the custody of children to the father is a moth-eaten law, indeed, this law is a relic of the barbarous age. This provision law to those ancient laws which vested all the property of the wife in the husband upon marriage, and merge the civil existence of the wife in the husband, treating her as a slave; other laws of the past gave the husband the right to inflict corporal punishment upon their wives, that is to say, giving the brutal husband the right to beat his wife when he saw fit. But thanks to the march of civilization most of these laws have vanished before the march of progress to this enlightened age.

"We do not allow our women any voice in making the laws by which their rights are determined and the status of their offspring fixed. And should we longer cling to a barbarous law which takes from her the child she has borne, thre child in whose veins her life blood flows, children of her travail and sorrow, children whose earliest breath knew only the mother's kiss and the mother's love. Shall we by law which she has no voice in making and the law by which she is now denied any voice as to its repeal take from her loving breast the sweet infant that she cherishes as none but a mother can.

"This change in the law should be made at once, rules should be suspended and let the right given the mother to the custody of her children. We have already protected by law the turtle and the terrapin, the pig and the o'possum, the lark and the lizard, and it is time we strengthen the tie between mother and child by laws giving her the legal custody of her own. God gave the child to the mother. Let not the laws of an enlightened age take it from her.

"Respectfully,

"W. B. SLOAN."

CHINESE IN AMERICA BACKING REVOLUTION

Declare Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai Would Make Himself Emperor

NEW YORK, July 28.—Nine Chinese business men of New York are on their way today to Boston, Chicago and other cities, to raise money among their fellow countrymen for the support of the revolutionary party in China. It was said that similar action had been taken among the Chinese leaders in San Francisco, who were sending out men today to raise money among the Chinese residents of western cities.

A committee of ten formed at a meeting yesterday, has established headquarters in New York for the aid of the rebel cause. They declare that the Chinese in this country are overwhelmingly for the rebels and they denounce Provincia President Yuan Shi Kai as ambitious to become an emperor.

The Danger of Imitations.

An Ohio druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. His experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for Children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Brands "Athletic Girls" Entirely Mannerless

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 28.—The girl champions of Princess Helena college of Ealing, have suffered something of a shock to their athletic ambitions. When receiving their prizes at the hands of Colonel Sir Thomas Holderich on Saturday they were surprised by Sir Thomas' denunciation of athletic girls.

He declared that girls of this type were not altogether worthy of imitation. That there was a growing tendency in sports to mistake the means for the end and games which were meant to make one happy and strong and to teach the value of good temperature and courtesy fell short of their purpose, particularly in the latter respect.

If a girl does not wholly succeed in setting in the front rank in sports, she is too apt to show disappointment, he said. She is not always as tidy as might be; her methods are sometimes exceedingly crude and she is entirely lacking in manners, he added.

CONTINUED RAINS HURT COTTON CROP IN BUTTS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JACKSON, Ga., July 28.—Farmers in Butts county say that the continued rains will damage the cotton crop seriously. For more than a week now it has rained every day and sometimes several times a day. It is said that just at this stage cotton does not need so much moisture. The rain, however, is doing corn worlds of good and the prospects for a bumper yield were never better than right now.

FINANCES OF PANAMA IN SPLENDID SHAPE

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Panama, which claims the distinction of being the only country in the world without a foreign debt of any kind, will have a balance in its treasury of about $690,000 as soon as the first annual installment of $250,000 just paid by the United States for use of the canal zone has been deposited.

Effective control over its revenues and a strict economy in expenditures have given the little republic a balanced budget amounting to $3,841,214 annually. Its total invested capital is $7,085,000.

"SOME PASSAGES IN BIBLE NEED TO BE EXPURGATED"

So Declares Dr. Robins, in Speaking of Bible in Schools

In the course of an inspiring sermon Sunday night on "The Majesty of Christ," Dr. John B. Robins, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, took occasion incidentally to mention the recent controversy between preachers of Atlanta over the bill to require the Bible to be read in the public schools of the state.

"A lot of preachers are fond of proclaiming their belief in the Bible," said he. "So far as I'm concerned, there is a good deal in the Bible that I don't want read in any school I'm connected with.

"Take the Songs of Solomon, for instance. I have often been told that Jewish rabbis are not allowed to read them until they are forty years old, and in that connection I have remarked to some of my rabbi friends that if I were a rabbi I wouldn't read them until I was eighty years old, and then I wouldn't care whether I read them or not.

"Solomon's songs may be fine sentiment and fine poetry, but they need editing and expurgating before they are read to children. There are many things in the Bible that even we preachers, sorry as some of us are, take pains to leave out."

In his sermon Sunday morning Dr. Robins made the rather startling statement that the worst enemies to the cause of Christ today are the orthodox preachers and the sanctified church members.

"By that I don't mean," he said, "the preachers who are really orthodox nor the people who are really sanctified, but the preachers who are proud of their orthodoxy and the people who are proud of their sanctity. The orthodox preachers were the ones Christ pushed aside when He came to earth, and they were the ones, after all, who crucified Him.

"The church's greatest drawback today are the men in the pulpit who are content with orthodox opinions and are content to add nothing thereto. Christ in calling men to preach His gospel didn't call men who thought they knew enough, but men who got close to the hearts of the people."

GOV. SLATON WON'T RUN AGAINST SENATOR SMITH

Declares He's Not Candidate for Senate and Is Not Likely to Be One

Governor Slaton is not a candidate for the United States senate, nor is he likely to be one. He says so himself.

In one of the Atlanta papers Sunday was published a story which was to the effect that Governor Slaton would oppose Senator Hoke Smith next year. Replying to this story Governor Slaton says:

"Any such statement is entirely unauthorized by me. I have never mentioned the matter to a human being, nor have I thought of it. My whole time, energy and attention is now being directed to the saving of the good name of the state in the matter of its finances.

"Beyond that I have no definite purpose other than to give the state the best there is in me during my term of service as its chief executive. I hope to have the support of all elements to that end and so far I am glad to say that I am receiving such support, regardless of past political differences in Georgia.

"The preservation of the honor of the state in the matter of its finances and the necessity for refunding its bonds on such terms as shall be creditable to the state are of supreme importance and any governor with a proper recognition of his duty would consider these questions as superior to any prsonal ambitions."

SECOND REGIMENT BACK FROM CAMP

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

FORSYTH, Ga., July 28.—The Second regiment returned Sunday morning from the most successful encampment in its history. Camp was broken on St. Simons island early Saturday morning and the equipment of the twelve companies was loaded onto the waiting lighters by 9 o'clock.

Captain J. M. Kimbrough and Captain R. E. L. Spence, of the United States army, detailed for instruction work at this camp, were loud in their praise of the excellent work done by officers and men and it was the general consensus of opinion that the men and their officers obtained more real instruction and gained a greater degree of military knowledge on this encampment than on any in the past.

BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

A great big bill of high grade Keith vaudeville will be the attraction at the Forsyth this week, and already there has been the sort of demand for seats that means that interest in vaudeville is as great as ever.

The program for this week is strong on comedy. More than two-thirds of the show is set to win laughs, and the people who have the assignments are the cleverest in the profession.

Joe Welch, the right famous character comedian, will make his second visit to the busy theater. This artist in his Hebrew character won a great hit at the Forsyth last season. He was a favorite with all classes of theatergoers and comes this trip with a lot of new stories in his "study from life."

Robert L. Dailey and company, in "Our Bob," make their first appearance here. There is not a more popular comedian in the world than Bob Dailey. He is a brother of the late Pete Dailey and the very same sort of jolly good fellow.

His sketch is wonderfully interesting and will be one of the real hits of the season. The Dolan-Leonhart company, in a satire on mind-reading, will be another of the special features and will surely count with the hits.

Elsa Ward, the pretty vocalist; Cunningham and Marlon, comedy gymnasts; Karl Cress, the lightning artist, and the Leffel Trio make up the show.

At the Grand the Carnegie Museum Alaska-Siberia Expedition Motion Pictures of wild life in the arctic regions will be given today and during the week.

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil. Tells What Resinol Did For Her.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"In December, 1908, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which itched me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is, it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description.

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Resinol a trial. I have used three cakes of Resinol Soap and less than a jar of Resinol Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's. It is about four weeks since the last pimple disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Bateman, 4256 Viola St., Dec. 6, 1912.

ATLANTA MOOSE DICTATOR DEFENDS MOOSE INITIATION

Says There Must Be Mistake in Report of Birmingham Deaths

H. L. MacEwen, dictator of the Atlanta lodge, No. 522, of the Loyal Order of Moose, has written The Journal in connection with the death of two men during a recent initiation into the Moose lodge at Birmingham.

Mr. MacEwen is sure that some mistake must have been made in the accounts of this happening, because, he says, none of the mechanical devices such as were said to have been used at Birmingham, are permitted by the Moose lodges.

He says, however, that all the circumstances will be investigated and that drastic action will be taken if the charges are shown to be true.

The total membership of the Moose is over 500,000, and there are in addition a ladies' circle and a junior order.

MEDICAL PRACTICE BILL BEFORE SENATE TUESDAY

Bill Provides for Board of Medical Examiners Who Will Pass on All Licenses

Doctors all over Georgia have their eyes on the state senate where the medical practice bill comes up as the special order Tuesday, and many of the prominent physicians of the state will be here to hear the discussion and to be present when the senate acts.

The bill now under discussion was before the last legislature. It went through the senate but came up for action in the house on the final day of the session when many of the members had gone home. This brought about its defeat by nine votes, the vote being 84 to 40, whereas it would have required 93 votes to pass it. This year the bill has come to the senate with a unanimously favorable report from the committee on hygiene and sanitation, and a similar bill has been reported favorably in the house with but one adverse committee vote.

The pending medical practice bill provides for a single composite board of medical examiners upon which the three leading schools shall have representation, instead of there being a separate board for each school as is now the case. It is believed this will result in a more uniform test or those applying for license to practice medicine. The measure is in no sense, it is said, affects osteopaths, dentists or others who do not prescribe and administer drugs.

The members of the proposed board are to be appointed by the governor and are to have sole jurisdiction of the issuance of licenses to practice medicine in Georgia. In case of malpractice or the misuse of the license, the board is given the right, in its discretion, to revoke license.

It is left with the board to pass upon the standing of the various medical colleges whose students come up for examination for license in this state. There are required of a student four terms of eight months each, whereas the present law requires only three terms of seven months each. The applicant for license is required to have a preliminary education equivalent to fourteen Carnegie units. Registration of the license with the clerk of the court is required, and the examination fee is fixed at $20, from which all expenses are to be paid.

The measure specifically prescribes under what circumstances the board may refuse to issue license or may revoke a license that has been issued, including such cases as fraud or deception, malpractice, conviction of crimes involving moral turpitude, habitual use of intoxicants or drugs and the like. It is made a misdemeanor to practice without license from the board, and the obtaining of a license by misrepresentation or forgery is made a felony with a maximum sentence of $1,000 fine or five years' imprisonment.

State Opens Its Case Against Leo M. Frank

than invalids. They prevailed upon the sheriff to state their pleas privately to Judge Roan, who sent word to them that no excuse would be heard except in open court.

At that hour some 400 people were waiting at the doors of the court.

DEFENSE READY.

At 8:50 o'clock Attorney R. R. Arnold, one of the counsel for the defense, stated: "We are going to trial. We never have intended to do anything else."

It was said that one witness regarded by the defense as important, a traveling salesman, had not been reached with a subpena.

Attorney Arnold stated that so far as he knew, no demurrer to the charge would be interposed by the defense. The defense, said he, intended to take up very little time with formalities, and expected to get "right down to business."

The defense, said he, probably will call over 100 witnesses to the stand. It was assumed that the majority of them will be character witnesses.

Attorney Arnold entered the court and was followed shortly by Herbert Haas, another member of counsel for the defense.

Solicitor General H. M. Dorsey, representing the state, entered court a few moments later accompanied by his special assistant in the Frank trial, Frank A. Hooper, and followed by his office deputy, Newt Garner, bringing their suit cases filled with papers, presumably including the affidavits which the state is said to have gathered and including particularly those referred to in the subpena duces tecum taken out by the defense.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Judge Roan mounted the bench. Court was called to order. Attorney L. Z. Rosser, chief counsel for the defense, and Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor rapped for order. The clerk of the court began calling the roll of the veniremen.

E. A. Stephens, assistant solicitor, sat at the table of the state.

VENIREMEN'S EXCUSES.

At the defense's table, in addition to the attorneys named already, were Stiles Hopkins and L. Z. Rosser, Jr.

One of the first panel of veniremen, F. W. Stone, of 82 East Linden street, offered a doctor's certificate that he was unable physically to serve on the jury. Judge Roan called attention to the fact that it was not sworn to by the physician, and excused Mr. Stone long enough to get it sworn to.

R. F. Shedden, Georgia manager of the Mutual Life of New York, pleaded that he was a member of the governor's military staff. The judge declined to grant the excuse.

W. H. Stone, of 196 Cleburne avenue, was called to fill the vacancy in the panel left by Mr. Stone. The first panel was then sworn. It retired. Panel No. 2 was called.

The public was admitted two or three minutes after court convened.

MISS FRANK ARRIVES.

At 9:15 o'clock Mrs. Frank, wife of the accused arrived at court and went directly to her husband. Their meeting in the presence of the bailiff, whence Frank had not yet been conducted, was described as affecting.

From the second panel seven men were excused before it was organized. They were F. A. Hull, who was ill; T. J. Henderson, who is sixty-three years old and exempt because of age; A. McCurry, who recently moved from Fulton to DeKalb county, and J. E. Bennerton, who stated that he is ill. Others were assigned to their places on the panel.

In the organization of the third panel the name of Joel Hurt, Atlanta capitalist, was called. The deputies stated that Mr. Hurt is out of the city and has not been served. W. H. Abbott, deputy clerk of the Fulton courts, asked to be excused, pleading that there was no one to take charge of his work in charge of the record room. Judge Roan declined to excuse him. Mr. Abbott then pleaded a slight deafness in one ear. "And I'm almost over age," he added. "Almost is not far enough," the judge remarked, still refusing to excuse him.

W. H. Scott, who declared that he was not to serve, was the only veniremen excused from the third panel.

Five veniremen were excused from the fourth panel. They were George Matthewson, of Buckhead, on account of being assistant chief of the county police; John W. Alexander, capitalist, 439 South Pryor street, account of illness; W. M. Donahue, of Buckhead, who presented a certificate to the effect that his wife is very ill and needs his presence; E. A. Massa, manufacturer, 305 East Fair street, account of being over age, and J. H. Gilbert, of South Bend, who stated that he has an incurable blood poison which has affected his nerves, making it impossible for him to sit through the trial. On this panel was one negro, Earl Davis, of Collins street—the only negro until then appearing in the jury room.

In the fifth panel George R. Wall, who is ill; F. M. York, whose wife is in a critical condition; and W. I. Brooks, who has moved to DeKalb county, were excused.

From the sixth panel, H. Manass, of 112 Jefferson street, who is deaf, was excused.

Sitting at the table with the solicitor general was W. J. Coleman, of Lithonia street, the stepfather of Mary Phagan, the murdered girl.

DR. CONNALLY EXCUSED.

From the seventh panel were excused Dr. E. L. Connally, of 53 Ashby street, and Rev. W. F. Burdette, of the northern part of the county. Connally stated that he is over age. "How do you know?" asked Judge Roan, smiling. Dr. Connally replied, "My mother told me so." Mr. Burdette was excused on the ground that he is a Baptist minister engaged in holding a revival.

From the eighth panel were excused C. W. Johnson, of 140 Gaskill, a minister; and J. M. DeFoor, of East Point, who pleaded illness.

In the eighth panel was H. C. Ashburn, a member of the coroner's jury, who heard the original evidence in the case. He remained on the panel, but will be excused for cause.

SOLICITOR CALLS CASE.

After the eighth panel had been organized, Judge Roan asked the solicitor formally what case he had. The solicitor called the case of the state of Georgia against Leo M. Frank. The hour was 10 o'clock.

Minola McKnight, the negro cook at the Frank home, was called among a list of witnesses. Her husband, Albert McKnight, was called, too. He did not answer. The negress stated that she was compelled to make her famous affidavit against Frank, and that she would deny it in court.

After announcing his case of the state against Leo M. Frank, the solicitor began calling the list of the state's witnesses, twenty-six in number. It was expected that others were to be called later. The list included none save material witnesses, it was said. No new names appeared on it.

CONLEY NOT CALLED.

They were J. W. Coleman, stepfather of the murdered girl; Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the mother; Mary Phagan; George W. Epps, a newsboy; Police Sergeant L. S. Dobbs, City Detective L. S. Starnes, W. W. Rogers, a court bailiff; City Detective John Black, Miss Grace Hicks, J. M. Gantt, Pinkerton Detective Harry Scott, City Detective R. B. Haslett, E. F. Holloway, M. B. Darley, William A. Geesling, Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist; Dr. J. W. Hurt, coroner's physician; Dr. H. F. Harris, president of the state board of health, Sentell, Mae Barrett, C. H. Carson, Mrs. Rebecca Carson, Harry Denham, Harry Gottheimer, Miss Corinthia Hall, Miss Hattie Hall, Mary Burke, Lemmie Quinn, Herbert J. Schiff, Ella Thomas, C. B. Gilbert, Frank Payne, Eula Flowers, Alonzo Mann, Joseph Stegar, Ike Strauss, J. C. Loeb, L. J. Cohen, Emma Bibb, Mrs. Bessie White, Joe Williams, Wade Campbell, William McKinley, J. E. Lyons, Dora Lavender, M. O. Nix, Jerome Michael, Mrs. M. G. Michael, George W. Parrott, Mrs. M. W. Myer, Rabbi Marx, William Taylor, Mrs. Beatrice Taylor, Fred Weller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eisenbach, Carl Wolfsheimer, Ed Montag, J. D. Fleming, T. T. Brant, Flossie Shields, Dora Small, Mrs. R. Freeman, Charles Leak, Mrs. Ike Strauss, Mrs. T. J. Cohen, Milton H. Cleveland, Julia Fuss, Walter Pride, J. C. Matthews, W. B. Bowen, M. W. Meyer, A. E. Meyer, A. E. Marcus and Mrs. Marcus, A. E. Haas, Ike Haas, Leonard Haas, Leopold Haas, William Montag, Ike Hirshberg, A. B. Levi, Burt Kauffmann, Robert Schwab, Otto Schwab, William Rosenfield, Sidney Levi, Louis Elsas, J. C. Gershon, George Gershon, Walter Rich, B. Willdauer, Sidney Levi, Sol Samuels, Arthur Heyman and others.

CHARACTER OF ACCUSED.

The number of character witnesses denoted that the defense intended to put in issue the character of the accused.

The fact that E. L. Sentell and E. S. Skipper, who claimed at the coroner's inquest to have seen Mary Phagan on the street during the afternoon and evening of April 26, indicated that the defense considered an attempt to prove that Mary Phagan did leave the factory after she entered it for her pay check.

It was also significant that among the witnesses were the names of people who claimed to have been playing cards at the Selig residence on the night of April 26, showing the defense was intending to prove the statements made by Frank at the inquest about his movements that evening.

*After the prisoner entered, Mr. Arn*old asked the court's permission to move the defense's table closer to the witness stand. In the rearrangement Frank sat between his mother and wife. The three then chatted and smiled while the first jury panel was called back.

C. B. Dalton was called by the state as another of its witnesses.

A partial list of the witnesses called for the defense is as follows. The total list numbered over 100, including many character witnesses.

DEFENSE WITNESSES.

F. Segidly, Annie Hixon, Mrs. Levy, Mrs. Josephine Selig, Emil Selig, H. J. Hensey, R. H. Haas, W. H. Mincey, who did not answer; J. T. Speer, E. F. Skipper, who did not answer; E. L. E. L. Parry, E. S. Smith, Miss Monteen Stover, Albert McKnight, colored; Minola McKnight, colored; Miss Helen Ferguson, Mrs. Arthur White, L. Stanford.

Three of the list did not answer. One was Detective Haslett, who was announced to appear later. Another was Albert McKnight, negro husband of Minola McKnight, who is cook at the Selig and Frank home. An attachment was issued for the negro. L. Stanford, the third witness who did not answer, it was stated, has received a subpena to appear in court Tuesday.

Just before these witnesses were sworn by the state, Attorney R. R. Arnold stated that the defense had issued subpenas duces tecum directed to the solicitor general, calling for the production in court of three affidavits and other statements made by James Conley, the negro sweeper, before notaries public.

Mr. Arnold said that as soon as that was answered by the state, he had a statement that he wished to make to the court. Attorney Frank Hooper replied to Mr. Arnold and announced that while the state did not concede it could be compelled to produce these papers for the defense, it would agree that when called for and shown to be material, the papers would be produced.

Attorney Arnold asked Solicitor Dorsey to dictate to the court stenographer the state's agreement on this point. Solicitor Dorsey dictated the following:

"Without conceding the right of the defendant to have these affidavits and statements now in the possession of the state, the state, nevertheless, agrees that whenever same are shown to be material to the defense they will be furnished by the state.

These affidavits and statements, taken stenographically, are four in number and were made May 18, May 28, May 24 and May 29."

FRANK IN COURT.

When the witnesses for the state and the defense all had been called, Leo M. Frank, the accused, was brought into court by Sheriff Mangum to confront them as they were sworn. He took his seat beside Attorney Rosser. He was followed into court by his wife, Mrs. Lucile Frank, and his mother, from Brooklyn. Both took seats near him within the railing after jurymen they could not hope to penetrate.

If one made his way past the crowd around the door, he was stared at. They were wondering what connection you should hold with the case. Batter your way to the door. There is a narrow lane leading up a flight of steps to the door of the court room. It is bordered on both sides by men, their hands on each other's shoulders, waiting until the moment comes when the door is opened to the spectator. An officer keeps that lane clear.

Another officer is at the door, asking every man who enters what his business is. On the steps leading to the second floor are more people. Push through them and go upstairs. Here is the most interesting phase of the whole trial.

LIKE A PICNIC PARTY.

The rooms are crowded with men and girls, laughing and chatting as if they were a pleasure party. There is none of the morbid curiosity of the street crowd here.

These are the witnesses, young men smoking cigarettes and lounging in and out the doors, young girls, most of them from the factory, dressed in gay colored and white dresses, firing good-natured sallies at one another.

"Are you subpoened?" they cry, "and are you, and you? Isn't this a lark?"

Downstairs again to the first floor. If you can get past that suspicious individual who is guarding the door you be the envy of every man on the landing, for for you have gained entrance to the coveted court room.

HOW IT LOOKS INSIDE.

But is it worth while? There is nothing sensational about this court room. In front of you is the railed inclosure which holds the judges stand and five tables and a score of chairs. Here are the lawyers. That man in the blue suit is Hugh M. Dorsey, the state's attorney. Next him is Frank A. Hooper.

Hardly two arms' lengths away is ... Rosser. Reuben R. Arnold is beside him. He, together with other lawyers conversing earnestly at the same table, are wearing linen suits.

Judge Roan presides over all. He has on black-rimmed spectacles, over which every juryman is met by a piercing gaze.

At other tables sit reporters. They write furiously. One man has a pile of copy paper in front of him as high as a mountain. Surely that will last him till next Christmas, you think to yourself.

You look around. To the right and behind you are the jurymen. There are all sorts of conditions of men here of a surety. There are bald-headed men, red-headed men, black-headed men, men with glasses and men with specs, ranging with every age from twenty-five to fifty and beyond.

What is there, you ask yourself, that makes these men all alike? It is a curious sort of expectancy on the face of each one of them. Will he be one of the twelve good men and true to decide the fate of Leo Frank?

PAINFULLY AND RESTLESS.

Some of them want to be chosen, are crazed with a morbid curiosity to see the proceedings at that trial. They are the ones who will be called out on the first panel. Others are impatient. Theirs is no interest in a murder case. They have business to attend to, a wife and children to care for.

The court room is not uncomfortable. It is cool and rather pleasant on the whole. Dim globes of electricity hang from the ceiling, giving a sort of soft light.

There is a humming noise over all. Those are the "ozonaters," the machines which are supposed to purify the air with fresh oxygen. Canned fresh air, you call it.

Look to your right. There is an open doorway. To the left of it is another door. It leads to a room, they tell you, where there paces back and forth the man for whom is set all this preparation and excitement, the whispering crowd in the street, the excited witnesses upstairs, the harassed officers keeping the crowd back, the eager jurymen, the somnacr, the electric lights and the copy paper—all there because a man is to be tried for the murder, nearly three months ago, of a little factory girl.

Dixon and Beamish—won it for the British isles.

U. S. WINS THREE TIMES.

The British isles players have won the trophy five times, Australia has been successful four times and the United States three.

More than fifty tennis experts have competed in the matches. In point of seniority, Brand and Brookes are tied with six years to their credit. The Doherty brothers and Wilding each played five years, while Holcomb Ward and Beals Wright competed four times. The United States entered ten teams, England twelve, Australasia eight, France three, Belgium two, and Germany, South Africa and Canada, one each.

EIGHT TEAMS PLAY.

The present tournament, which proved to be the greatest in the trophies history, involved eight teams. Play began early in June with Germany defeating France at Wiesbaden. Then the United States team won from the Australasians at New York. In England, Canada eliminated South Africa; Germany and Canada both fell before the United States players and Belgium, which drew a bye, previously went down before the Canadians.

In the final round the dominion players failed to check the United States team's cup rush and with the winning of today's crucial match against the English, the championship returns to America again.

KNOCKED MAN DOWN WHO TALKED TO WIFE

W. S. Sexton Fined $25.75 for Striking W. S. Patterson

Jealousy is said to have caused W. M. Sexton, of 18 Gaskill, to get into a row just after leaving church Sunday night.

His trouble was with W. S. Patterson because the latter talked a few minutes with his wife, from whom he is estranged. All parties were leaving the St. Luke's Methodist church on Powell street, but not together.

Sexton saw Patterson join Mrs. Sexton. It is said, and stop to talk. This angered him and he walked hastily to Patterson and struck him a violent blow with his fist.

Patterson was felled and claimed Sexton used brass knucks, but Sexton denied this, although Officers Coker and Boggus, who put a stop to the affray and arrested both parties, found brucks near Sexton's feet.

Sexton was fined $25.75 Monday morning. Mrs. Sexton did not appear in court. Patterson was released without a fine.

HIS TRIAL UNDER WAY

LEO M. FRANK.

Mrs. Leo Frank and Her Mother Cheer Prisoner at Courthouse

Accused Neither Care-Worn Nor Haggard—His Eyes Meet Those of Crowd Without Faltering

There was one question on the face of every member of the big crowd in and around the courthouse Monday morning. To those standing without in the street, to those crowding the corridors and hallways, to witnesses flowing through the rooms on the second floor, to the packed courtroom, the query was, where is the prisoner

The man to whom the trial meant more than it meant to any other human being, had been brought to the courthouse early in the morning.

He was in a bare walled little room a few feet from the doorway leading to the court. With him sat two deputy sheriffs, his father-in-law, Emile Selig, and a friend.

From time to time during the morning the curious slipped to the door and gazed in at the accused. They saw a little man whose dark eyes gazed at them unwinking through big glasses. He was pale, but neither care-worn nor haggard. He wore a light gray suit striped with darker gray, black shoes, and a black and white four-in-hand tie.

Hardly once during the morning did Frank sit down. He held in his hand a daily paper and strolled aimlessly around the room, flicking with it at the table and the chairs.

Shortly after 9 o'clock there was a stir in the court room. Guided by a deputy sheriff two women pushed past the staring jurymen and vanished in the direction of Frank's room. They were Mrs. Frank and her mother, Mrs. Selig.

The wife of the accused man wore a black suit, a black hat, and a heavy veil. Mrs. Selig was dressed entirely in white, and carried a white parasol. She was not veiled.

The little man in the gray suit looked up eagerly as the two women entered the room. His lips were parted in a half-smile, his arms were raised toward the door.

The woman in black and the man in the gray suit were in each other's arms. She spoke once as she kissed his wan cheeks and fondled the black hair, "My lad, my lad!"

Mrs. Selig kissed Frank on both cheeks, grasped him by the arms, and held him off to gaze in almost a proud manner at her son-in-law. Then Frank and the women gathered in a little group near the big table. All were standing.

They spoke in whispers. Every now and then one of them would pat the other on the shoulder. Frank was smiling slightly and his wife seemed to be unable to keep her hands from touching him. She would straighten the black-and-white tie, stroke his coat collar, never taking her eyes from his face.

Mrs. Selig took a seat over near the wall and fixed her eyes on the couple standing near the table. She was smiling, too, a wistful almost pleading smile. At intervals she would get up and approach them. Once she took Frank by the chin and shook it gently as if to tell him that he could not lose. He laughed as she did it.

J. M. Gantt Is to Be Married Sunday, Provided Trial Is Over—He Has Planned to Elope, but Now He'll Have "Sure Enough" Wedding

There is one man connected with the case of Mary Phagan to whom the conclusion of the trial will bring a great happiness. He is J. M. Gantt, at one time a suspect and now a witness.

The day that brings the end of the trial will bring to him a wife.

Monday morning he sat on the steps leading to the second floor of the court house, chewing on the end of a dead cigar. And he told how Miss Annie Chambers, to whom he was to have been married many weeks ago, has promised to wed him, next Sunday, provided the Frank trial is over.

"We were going to elope just before this thing happened," said Gantt, "but I guess now we'll have a regular formal wedding. It'll come off next Sunday if we can make it then, if not, why, later. I was trying to get to Marietta, where we'll live, the day I was arrested. God helping me, I'll get there this time, and Annie will be with me."

Equal to All Occasions

The Earl of Morley on his return from Jamaica, remained a while in New York, and at a dinner there he told, apropos of self-confidence, a story about a young English statesman.

"This youth," Lord Morley said, "ought to get on. He works hard and nothing ever fazes him.

"He wanted recently to push a bill that had little support from his own party. A friend, however, said to him in a warning voice:

"'But suppose, my boy, this bill should cause your party to throw you overboard?'

"'Well, in that case, old chap,' he replied, 'I'm quite sure I'd have strength enough to swim across to the other side.'"

ON HER KITCHEN STOVE

It is interesting to note that the most successful remedy for woman's ills was originally prepared nearly forty years ago by Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., by steeping roots and herbs on her kitchen stove and supplied to friends and neighbors without cost. Its fame spread; the demand grew; until now many tons of roots and herbs are used each year in order to supply this famous remedy which has proved such a marvelous success in controlling diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.—(Advt.)

MOTHER SEES HER SON KILLED BY STREET CAR

Russell R. Gresham, Kirkwood Planter, Killed While on His Way to City

Russell R. Gresham, who was run down in his dairy wagon by an outgoing Kirkwood car on the South Decatur line on Whitefoord avenue Monday morning about 8 o'clock, died a few hours later at the Atlanta hospital where he had been taken.

He suffered a terrible gash at his throat and was badly bruised about the face. He was rushed to the hospital where every attention was given him, but he never regained consciousness, and died about 11:30 o'clock.

The accident happened about 7:45 o'clock as Gresham was driving to town, his wagon filled with produce and buttermilk. Gresham stopped his wagon several feet from the track. As the car came toward him he evidently made up his mind that he could cross the track first.

As Gresham whipped up his horse the trolley car swept on. The car struck the rear of the wagon, shattering the wheels and scattering the contents of the cart right and left.

The place where the accident occurred is not far from the store of Mrs. Lottie Gresham, the mother of the injured man. She was standing in front of the store when the car struck the wagon, and the sight threw her into hysterics.

The street car was somewhat damaged and several people on it were badly frightened.

Mr. Gresham was fifty-three years of age and a resident of Kirkwood. He was a truck farmer and dairyman. Surviving him are his wife, five daughters and four sons. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PRESENTS BILL TO GIVE MOTHER CHILD'S CUSTODY

secure the passage of the bill. He has received warm commendation from many who believe that the present law, defending the mother of all rights of control, is a relic of the unenlightened past and an injustice which should be corrected.

He has succeeded in creating favorable sentiment for the bill, and doubtless his efforts in its behalf will prove successful.

The bill in full follows:

AN ACT

To be entitled an act relative to the custody and control of minor children, and to provide under what circumstances they shall be awarded to the mother and under what circumstances to the father.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, that from and after the passage of this act, wherever there shall be a controversy, either in connection with a suit for divorce or otherwise, between the father and the mother for the custody and control of a minor child or children of or the age of five years, the following shall govern:

A. Prima facie, the right to the custody of all female minors of whatever age and all male minors of the age of seven or under, shall be in the mother, and said children shall be awarded to her unless it should be made plainly and distinctly to appear that the welfare and happiness of said child or children require some other disposition, in which event the presiding judge may exercise a wise discretion and award said child to the father or to a third person.

B. In the case of a male child over fourteen years of age, prima facie, the parental rights of the father and the mother shall be considered equally balanced, and the court in its discretion shall award said male child to that parent who is shown to be best able to promote the welfare and happiness of said child, and, giving due consideration to the preference of the child itself.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, that whenever the custody of a minor is awarded to its mother under and by virtue of this act, the mother shall be entitled to the earnings, if any, of such child, in the same way as is the father under existing law.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted that nothing herein contained shall be construed as changing the existing rules relative to the liability of the father to support his children, and when any question arises for determination under this act and the same is coupled with a claim against the father for the support of his minor children, the said claim shall be determined under existing law.

Sec. 4. Be it further enacted, that any order relative to the custody of minor children which may be passed by any court shall be subject to change, revision or modification, should the condition or surrounding of the child change, or its welfare and happiness requiring it; provided, however, that any application for a change or revision or modification of such order shall always be heard by the judge who passed the original order, if he still be in office; and provided further, that if any judge should conclude that any application is made for a change or revision or modification of such order, not in good faith, but for the purpose primarily of harrassing the opposite party or putting him or her to unnecessary trouble and expense, the presiding judge shall have power, in his discretion, to tax said party so moving with the costs, and also with the expenses and attorneys' fees of the opposite party, and the said moving party shall also be liable to be dealt with as for a contempt of court.

Sec. 5. Be it further enacted, that all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Negro Cook in the Selig-Frank Home Repudiates Affidavit She Swore to Against Frank, Will Refuse to Swear to the Paper, She Says

Minola McKnight, the negro cook, who signed an affidavit which is to be used by the prosecution against Leo M. Frank, said Monday morning that the police, by three hours' sweating, forced her to sign this affidavit, and that when she is called as a witness that she will refuse to testify to the statements set forth in it.

The substance of the affidavit was that, on the morning following the murder of Mary Phagan, Mrs. Frank came downstairs at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Selig, with whom she and Frank made their home, and said that Frank had asked for a pistol with which to kill himself.

At the time the negro cook signed this written statement of what is said in the affidavit to have happened at the Selig residence on the day following the murder, she was confined at police station.

She declares now that the signing of the affidavit followed hours of "sweating" by the police, and that at the time she actually signed the paper she was not aware of what she was doing.

When the names of witnesses were called Monday it was found that her husband, Albert McKnight, who had been summoned by the prosecution, was missing.

Through statements which he made, the police came to cross-examine his wife, and he was summoned as a witness to testify to what she is said to have told him.

When Solicitor General Dorsey found that the negro McKnight was not among the witnesses, he questioned Minola McKnight, the negro's wife. She said that her husband left home that morning as usual to go to work.

"Do you think he has left town?" the solicitor asked her.

"No," she said.

Immediately afterward court officers were sent to arrest the missing witness.

A JURY OF PHYSICIANS

Doubtbless many who have read our announcements have said: "They were not genuine cases of Bright's Disease." Then how about cases like this?

R. C. Pell, corner of Broadway and Reed streets, is the manager of one of San Francisco's big corporations. He had a son who had Bright's Disease. He was greatly swollen with dropsy and a United States Army surgeon was called in. He reported the case Bright's and incurable. Although Bell had great confidence in the physician he called in another. After careful examination he corroborated the Army surgeon's report. They told him he could not raise the lad.

He thereupon put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound. He began to mend and in six months was well; but the child could hardly credit it. He took a sample to a third physician. He reported it normal. To be absolutely certain he called in a fourth physician for a last analysis. He also reported it normal.

As to the permanence of the results obtained in this case, this was eight years ago and the patient, now a young man, is in business in San Francisco.

There is no escape whatever from the fact that Bright's Disease is being cured by Fulton's Renal Compound. If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound beofre giving up. You can get it at Edmondson Drug Co., 11 North Broad street, and 106 North Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

Senator Searcy Introduces Bill at Request of President of the W. C. T. U.

Senator W. E. H. Searcy of the Twenty-sixth district Monday morning introduced a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors.

Senator Searcy says that he introduced the bill at the instance of the president of the W. C. T. U.

Following the introduction of a resolution in the house calling for an investigation of the record of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State Agricultural college, Senators Foster and Hix have introduced a resolution commending Dr. Soule's work for the state and deploring the effort to minimize his achievements.

The senate committee on commerce and labor Monday favorably reported President Randolph Anderson's child labor bill.

Favor State Sanitarium For Treating Inebriates

The state senate passed a resolution offered by Senator Tarver Monday morning providing for the appointment of a commission to consider the advisability of establishing a state sanitarium for "dope fiends" and inebriates.

There was little argument on the resolution and it was adopted by unanimous vote. The commission is to consist of three men, one a practicing physician, all of whom shall be appointed by the governor.

Monday morning's session of the senate was featureless and was passed mainly in approving bills of local application or of little general interest.

SECRETARY COOK FAVORS AUTO EXEMPTION TAX

Would Have Cars Pay Annual License Tax and No Other

Class legislation against automobilists will result if the proposed annual license act is adopted by the house, according to Secretary of State Phil Cook, who declares that an exemption tax would bring a greater sum to the state than would the annual license fee. He believes the law would be unconstitutional.

The tax committee has favorably reported a bill requiring the payment of an annual license fee of $5 per automobile, and doing away with the present system of licensing automobiles, which imposes a fixed charge of $2 for the life of the car. The proposed law would bring to state $100,000 annually, as there are more than 20,000 cars in Georgia.

Secretary Cook advocates a special tax law modeled after the New York state law, which imposes an annual tax based on a percentage of a car's value and exempts cars from all other taxes, either city, county or state. This would, he believes, bring an annual income of more than $200,000, and it would also be constitutional.

Almost a fifth of the automobile owners of Georgia do not return their cars for taxation, nor do they procure licenses, says Secretary Cook, who has charge of that department of the state government. The proposed law would levy a toll upon them all, he declares, and prevent evasion.

Where the Need Outweighs the Cost.

There is but one obstacle in the path of the bill to establish a State institution for the training and guardianship of wayward girls; and that is the question of whether funds for this purpose can be spared.

As to the wisdom and justice of the measure itself there is no difference of opinion. It was introduced in the early days of the present session of the Legislature with the earnest indorsement of the State prison commission and the thoughtful commendation of judges in every part of Georgia. Upon being referred to the penitentiary committee of the House, it was approved unanimously. Every member of the Legislature is doubtless convinced that such an institution ought to be established, if it is practically possible to do so.

In these circumstances, the bill was referred to the committee on appropriations, and there came the rub. The State's financial problems are numerous and perplexing. In order that ends may meet, close economy must be exercised. But it is evident that economy which would sacrifice human lives and social welfare would be ill-advised and, in the final sum of things, very costly to public interests.

The appropriations committee could not see its way clear to grant the amount originally asked for this purpose, but so important did the enterprise appear that it was referred to a sub-committee, composed of Messrs. Griffin, Green and Berry who are charged with determining the minimum fund with which the institution can be started.

These gentlemen have a very serious duty to perform and a very grave responsibility, for, upon their recommendation the committee's final action will be based. The question is not simply whether Georgia can afford to establish the proposed institution but chiefly whether she can afford not to establish it. The State does well to spend liberal sums of money for the prevention of disease among hogs and cattle but it does tragically ill to spend nothing for the prevention of ruined and broken human lives. Not merely as a matter of pity or sentiment but mainly as a matter of justice—justice to the community as well as to individuals—Georgia should establish an institution where girls who are not hopelessly, and often not inherently, bad may be saved from the evils of impulse or environment and made useful to themselves and their generation.

Some people manage to make a little truth go a long way by stretching it.

The Meadow Larks.

Song birds may lack that "melodious meed" of poesy they were accorded in times gone by but never was their material worth so truly esteemed or rewarded. No Lanier now praises the mocking bird as "yon trim Shakespeare on the tree" but science welcomes the little songster for its insectivorous appetite and laws are enacted for its protection. We no longer hail the lark as an "ethereal minstrel, pilgrim of the sky" but grave, bespectacled gentlemen write earnest treatises on its value to growing crops and exhort the farmer to cherish it as a trusty friend. In time, no doubt, the birds will become reconciled to the loss of their bards and will conclude that after all a good game law is better than a sonnet—for birds at least.

The United States department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin on the meadow lark in which Southern planters should be particularly interested. The principal diet of this bird, we are told, consists of cotton boll weevils, alfalfa weevils, grasshoppers and predaceous ground beetles; and, obligingly enough, the meadow lark will choose for its provender those insects which happen to be most numerous, and accordingly most menacing, in the neighborhood of its home. Evidently, then, the South should encourage meadow larks, for, the boll weevil has destroyed great fortunes of Texas and Mississippi cotton and is now reported to be advancing steadily upon Georgia.

It is very pleasing to reflect that Nature has made song birds the most efficient insect destroyers, as though to remind us that if we destroy her singers we shall be plagued for our lack of grace.

Dr. Soule's Service to Georgia.

A wise Athenian was once drawn into an envious law suit over a petty farm. After showing the judges that his cause was just, he quietly said: "I will not entreat you, nor do I care what sentence you pass. It is you who are on your trial, not I."

The same remark might aptly be made of those gossips who are seeking to belittle the usefulness of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture. It is not Dr. Soule but these would-be trouble-makers who are on trial. It is they who are slandering the State through their vicious attacks on the work of a man who has done more perhaps than any other individual to promote the agricultural progress of Georgia. Dr. Soule needs no defense other than the clear record of his public service, nor could he have higher praise than that which looms from every chapter of the institution he has upbuilt.

Under his administration, the Agricultural College and all its related departments have grown in attendance, in influence, in efficiency, in power for practical good. They have become a vital force in the daily life and welfare of Georgia farms; and every dollar appropriated for their maintenance has been returned a hundredfold in benefits to the people. This great work, Dr. Soule has done with equal earnestness and modesty. He of all men would be the last to claim undue credit for what is being accomplished and he, better perhaps than anyone else, appreciate the value of his able co-workers and the responsiveness of the people themselves. But an intelligent public knows that it was his genius in organization and leadership that has counted most in making the Agricultural College what it is today.

Why is it that such a man and such a work should incur the venom of political gossips? Simply for the reason, we suppose, that successful men are always the envy of unsuccessful and that useful lives are always a target for the useless. Dr. Soule needs no vindication before the people whose State he has made his own and whose interests he has so faithfully served, even at financial sacrifice to himself. But those slanderers of his good name who, like Shakespeare's "scurvy politician," "seem to see the things they do not," deserve a rebuke from every right-thinking Georgians.

A Ray of Balkan Peace.

If it be true, as the dispatches indicate, that the Powers have authorized Russia to occupy Armenia and compel Turkey to cease her recent aggressions, one of the gravest perils of the new Balkan war has been averted. So long as the larger nations act in concert, there is hope of not only confining the Balkan problem to the peninsula but of also solving that problem itself. The danger has been that Austria's ambitions would set her at cross purposes with Russia and that an open clash would come between the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente.

Russia is the logical peacemaker in a war that so largely concerns Slavic interests. Her diplomacy should be particularly effective with Bulgaria and Servia and, if given right of way by the other Powers, she can doubtless do much to put an end to the present strife. It is especially important for the sake of all Europe's peace that Turkey be checked in her plans to reoccupy all the territory she lost in the war with the Allies. She has already taken possession of Adrianople and threatens to *seize other territory which was allotted to the Al*lies in the London treaty. But if Russia is authorized to force compliance with the terms of treaty and drive the Turks back across the Enos-Midia boundary, this particular menace will vanish. It is likely, indeed, that an ultimatum from Russia would send the Turks packing.

The prospects for a cessation of the war among the Allies is brighter than it has been since the recent outbreak. Austria is reported to have cast her influence for peace. Bulgaria is evidently ready for a truce; the Greeks and Serbs have little to lose through negotiations. It is possible, if not probable, that the war will soon be at an end.

A Brighter Prospect For Currency Reform.

Chairman Glass of the House banking and currency committee makes the cheering forecast that there will soon be substantial agreement among the Democratic members of the committee and that probably within another ten days the administration measure will be reported, altered in some of its details but in essentials unchanged. This brightened outlook for the enactment of currency and banking legislation is due largely no doubt to the tactful efforts of President Wilson. A week ago there seemed to be irreconcilable differences over this bill among certain Democrats of the committee. But following several White House conferences, the atmosphere has appreciably cleared.

It is to be hoped that no Democrat will permit his individual opinion to block the way of party principle and party duty; nor is it likely that this will be the case. For, the administration views are evidently strong enough in the committee to carry the day, if the issue is reduced simply to a question of votes. The country demands and expects an adequate banking and currency law in the near future; and to that end all good Democrats should unite.

Advantages of Growing Old

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

Sensible people when they grow old find a great many compensations. Crossing the line of fifty, one moves up a little closer to the heart of the world. Youth is a good deal of a stranger and pilgrim in the universe. The ageing man discovers a realness and a homliness in men and things.

Youth has no sense of proportion. He must hasten. Reforms cry out. Up and at them! He tears his shirt. Then when he gets old he begins to say, with Emerson, "Why so hot, little man?" He sees that the only dependable improvement in society is that which grows, not that which is forced. The youth's optimism is a kind of enlarged egotism; the optimism of old age is an appreciation of the friendliness of nature.

Young men are dazzled by institutions, imposed upon by organizations, overawed by the presumptuous authority of the past. Old men come to value personality more than these things. There is nothing worth while but to express one's self; it takes years of experience to realize that.

Old age learns how to "come down" without "giving up," to use the words of The Country Parson." The old man quietly adjusts himself to the stubborn inevitable. Young people waste infinite effort in fuming and useless strenuousness. To youth success seems a matter of laboring hard in the oar; to the wise old man it is a matter of setting one's sails. The winds of heaven, if we get at the proper angle to them, will do more than all our muscle.

The conscience of youth is usually morbid. Many of his reddest sins and most shining virtues tone down with years. He learns tolerance. He believes less and less in prohibitions and punishments and more and more in the creative virtures such as love, courage, and lending a hand.

To a normal old age comes a consciousness of the real joy of living, of the little things that compose life. The youngster is so smirked in high enthusiasm that he forgets or has no time to see how good life is, mere existence. Old people come back to eating, sleeping, walking breatheing, all the common ingredients of the day, not sensually, but with spiritual gratefulness.

Young men are eager for knowledge, greedy for the equipment of facts, of skill, and of efficiency. Old men have seen the weakness of these; they prefer wisdom and philosophy; they prefer the expert soul to the expert hand and mind.

Love means more to old people than to young. To *youth it is an adventure, to age it is the color of ex*istence. To young persons it is a dangerous madness, to the old it a conservating, universal, ever-present force. The unwrecked personality ought to be unusually is happier after fifty than before.

"A Correspondence Between Nietzsche and Stringberg"

*It became known only recently that a most inter*esting, though brief, correspondence had taken place between Friedrich Nietzsche and August Strindberg. These two strange and mighty spirits had saluted each other from a distance, had exchanged a few ringing messages and then passed on—Nietzsche to that death in life which shrouded his mind in darkness and Strindberg, urged along by the whirlwinds of his tempestuous temperament, to new sorrows and disasters. The death of Strindberg in 1912 has apparently broken the seals of silence that rested upon his own letters, and the entire correspondence, after lying hidden for twenty-five years, has now been given to the public for the first time by Frau Forster Nietzsche, the sister of the dead philosopher. . . . Some time before he entered into correspondence with the Swedish man of letters, Nietzsche had made the acquaintance of Georg Brandes, the distinguished Danish critic who had called his attention to Strindberg as a mind more or less in affinity with his own. Brandes was perhaps the first European to give publicity to the thought and philosophy of Nietzsche, at that time a still unrisen sun in the firmament of modern Europe. . . . He had just completed that strange work Ecce Homo, the burning biography of his soul, in which he crowns himself with the ultimate glory of all battles and all philosophies, and sits throned in victory upon the ruins of the old morality—the anti-Christ triumphant. He is anxious that this book be given to the world in four languages at once. This is his chief motive for addressing Strindberg. . . . It is interesting to read of Strindberg's judgment upon the English literature of his day. The stony barriers of Anglican puritanism have since then been broken down by several modern writers, and yet so far as bourgeois or family literature is concerned, his judgment still holds good. But he was wrong in his belief that England would offer no hospitality to Nietzsche.—Herman Scheffauer, in the August number of the North American Review.

Quips and Quiddities

One year when the youngsters of a certain Illinois village met for the purpose of electing a captain of their baseball team for the coming season, it appeared that there were a number of candidates for the post, with more than the usual wrangling.

Youngster after youngster presented his qualifications for the post and the matter was still undecided when the son of the owner of the ball field stood up. He was a small, snub-nosed lad, with a plentiful supply of freckles, but he glanced about him with a dig*nified air of controlling the situation.*

"I'm going to be captain this year," he announced convincingly, "or else father's old bull is going to be turned into the field."

He was elected unanimously.

"I'm glad to hear that, sir. And would you mind naming them?"

Returns were received from about 310,000 concerns, having an aggregate net income of $3,304,000,000, an increase of $400,000,000 as compared with the preceding calendar year. When it is noted that the aggregate capital stock of the companies exceeds sixty billions and their bonded and other indebtedness more than thirty-two billions one can obtain some notion of the proportion of the country's business that is conducted under corporate form.—New York Herald.

THE OPIUM TRAFFIC

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

China, republican now but still "heathen," is stamping out the opium traffic with a vigor never before manifested in such an undertaking. England, monarchical but Christian, is insisting that China must pay some $50,000,000 for opium that has been produced by British subjects and shipped to Chinese ports where the Chinese authorities would not permit it to be unloaded. The United States, both republican and Christian a few years ago called an international council for the suppression of the opium traffic and discovered to its surprise that the great American republic itself was the home of a tremendous traffic in opium and other vicious habit-forming drugs. Three bills are now being considered in congress which deal with the subject. One is to remedy defects in the act passed in 1909 forbidding the importation of opium for other than meddicinal purposes. Another increases the internal revenue tax on opium produced in this country for smoking purposes. The third provides for the registration with the collectors of internal revenue, and the payment of a special tax by "all persons who produce, import, compound, manufacture, deal in, dispense, sell or give away opium or coca leaves, their salts, derivatives or preparations."

The object of the United States in originating the international movement for the suppression of the opium traffic was to lessen the deplorable habit of opium smoking in the Orient. Directly after the appointment of the American delegates to the first international opium commission it was discovered that this nation was itself permitting a traffic in opium and deriving revenue from it. Between 1860 and 1908 the United States had collected an aggregate revenue from opium amounting to $27,000,000. As it was not possible for the American delegates to the international commission to press the suppression of the eastern opium traffic under these conditions, an opium exclusion act was passed in 1909. This was to permit the delegates to the commission to maintain the position desired by this government for the suppression of the evil.

The opium exclusion bill of 1909 was found defective when it came to the test of practical enforcement. The sudden complete prohibition of the importation of opium tended greatly to increase smuggling, especially along the Mexican border.

The Harrison bill providing for the registration of all persons in any way connected with the handling of the drugs, opium and cocaine, will enable the government not only to lessen the amount of smuggling, but will also be a record of the quantities of such drugs in the country and the final disposition of the same. The bill provides that every person selling the drugs shall preserve the order for the sale for two years in order that it may be readily accessible for the inspection of any authorized officer. Another pending bill provides for the levying of an internal revenue tax of $200 per pound upon all opium manufactured in the United States for smoking purposes. This applies especially to the opium made from poppies grown in this country, particularly along the Pacific coast, which might, without this restriction, become a flourishing industry.

The bill prohibiting the importation of opium has also a section prohibiting its export. The penalty provided for any person found to have smoking opium in his possession while on board any car, vessel or other vehicle outward bound from the United States is the same as that provided for an attempt to bring the drug into the country. This provision is in compliance with a resolution passed at the The Hague by the opium commission that "It is the duty of all governments to adopt reasonable measures to prevent, at all ports of departure, the shipment of opium and its derivatives to any country which prohibits their entry." The establishment of this co-operation will materially assist all of the governments in their efforts to overcome opium smuggling. Such a provision already has been adopted by India, the Crown Colony at Hong Kong and the Do*minion of Canada. The similar action of other gov*ernments is expected.

The first international opium commission was called by the United States at Shanghai, China, in 1909. The one held at The Hague in December and January of 1911-12 was also called by the United States. Twelve of the world's powers were represented there. The second Hague opium commission has just concluded. At its sittings forty governments were represented, more than twenty of which sent delegates. The American delegates, several of whom are now upon their way home, included Lloyd Bryce, minister to the *court at the Netherlands; Dr. Hamilton Wright, rep*resenting the department of state; Gerrit Kellen, of Michigan, with J. Butler Wright, of the American legation at Brussels, secretary, and Gerald B. Seldonridge, of Colorado, assistant secretary.

The increase in the use of opium, morphine, coca leaves and cocaine has been appalling in the United States within the past generation. In the five leading countries of Europe, including a population of about 164,000,000, less than 50,000 pounds of opium are used annually. The United States, with a population of 90,000,000, imports and consumes over 400,000 pounds annually, averaging over half an ounce per capita of the entire population. The quantity of coca leaves and cocaine consumed in Europe is even less than that of opium as compared with the United States. Over 150,000 pounds of cocaine are consumed in this country annually. A consensus of opinion obtained from a canvass of a large number of the leading physicians of the country indicates that 75,000 pounds of opium would be ample to meet the medicinal needs of the American people as would 15,000 ounces of cocaine.

It is thus shown that more than five times the amount of opium and ten times the amount of cocaine required for medicinal purposes is being consumed in this country each year. The excess is consumed by thousands of men and women who have become addicted to the drug habit. As a result, additional criminal classes are being created. The habitual use of drugs is more harmful in its effects than the use of alcoholic liquors. It is spreading with a rapidity which menaces the welfare of the entire nation. Usually the victims have formed the habit innocently and unconsciously, but having once become a drug slave, reform is almost impossible. In most of the states some sort of legislation has been enacted looking toward the lessening of the case with which the habit-forming drugs can be secured by irresponsible persons. These laws are poorly enforced in the main and little care is given to means of preventing the establishment of the drug habit.

The great majority of drug victims acquire their taste through patent medicines, the careless use of drugs ordered in the beginning by a physician, or from taking medicated "soft drinks." Patent medicine manufacturers, who use cocaine and morphine in their compounds, sometimes claim that these drugs lose their effect by being combined with other ingredients. Expert chemical tests prove this to be untrue. The habitual use of a medicine containing only a small quantity of either drug may, if continued, result in the establishment of an unconquerable habit. Cocaine is sometimes used as a snuff and its victims may begin to acquire a desire of it by using some of the ca*tarrh cures so* numerous upon the market.

A physician's examination of over 600 morphine cases indicated that more than 90 per cent of the victims used the drug hypodermically. The instrument is usually used first by a physician to check some acute pain. Afterwards the patient, seeing how easily he was relieved, begins to use the instrument himself. In most parts of the country a hypodermic syringe may be purchased by a fifteen-year-old boy as easily as a pocketknife.

MAY TURN AWAY GIRLS AT COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

President of Board of Education Pleads for Funds for English-Commercial School

The board of education faces the serious possibility of having to turn away about 100 girls who wish to enter the English-Commercial High school this year, lack of space in the present quarters making it impossible to accommodate the students.

At the meeting of the board of education last week a special committee was appointed to take into consideration ways and means of providing additional accommodation; but owing to the lack of funds the outlook is not encouraging. The committee is composed of W. R. Daley, president of the board; W. M. Slaton, superintendent of the schools; Marcellus M. Anderson and Dan Green. They now are investigating the situation, and will make a report to the board Wednesday afternoon at a special meeting of the board.

The English-Commercial High school has grown in a phenomenal manner since its establishment a few years ago. Approximately 300 girls are already entered for the fall term, and Mrs. Wise, the principal, has informed the board that nearly 100 more will have to be taken care of, in all probability.

In commenting on the situation, Colonel Daley said: "It is a shame that a city of the size of Atlanta will make no provision for that many girls who desire schooling. We have urged council to give us more funds, but, though we earnestly presented the matter to their attention, both in January and June, we have received not a dollar except for the current expenses of the school.

"The location of the school at present is not only insufficient from the standpoint of space, but it is dangerous. The girls are housed in two antiquated, dilapidated and unsafe houses below the level of Washington street. The buildings were erected many years ago for residences, and have not even the modern conveniences. They are insanitary, poorly ventilated and dangerous to health, but we have neither space nor money to remedy the situation.

"We have a lot on which to erect a new building, but we cannot get an appropriation from council, and unless we do I do not know what we are going to do with that property.

"The Commercial High school, at first, was a branch of the Girls' High school, but it grew so rapidly that it became necessary to separate it from the Girls' High school, and the old Episcopal rectory located in the Washington street viaduct and another house just back of it was rented. The school has now outgrown these quarters, and the overflow must be turned away unless some provision can be made for the girls."

The 1913 Georgia crops will be much better than was expected and the gloom which dominated the farmers of the state two weeks ago has almost disappeared, declare the planters among the members of the Georgia legislature who this morning returned from their homes after spending the week-end.

The capitol was buzzing Monday morning with the comments of men who had visited all parts of the state and all agreed that the rains of the past week have not only saved the crops but also have given them such impetus that they will be as good as any in recent years.

Congressman Heflin Angers Suffragettes By His Criticisms

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage association seethed with indignation today when officers and members learned that Representative Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, their most bitter opponent in congress, had fired another broadside into their camp last night from the pulpit of a local church. In addition to criticising the "cause" in vigorous terms, Mr. Heflin also gave his definition of suffragists and their male supporters.

Here it is:

"Suffragettes: Unmarried female fanatics.

"Suffragettaers: Unhappy, discontented married women.

"Suffragetters: The male suffragette. A feeble-minded suffrotescent creature." Mr. Heflin explained that the word "suffrotescent" was his own coinage. He said he believed that "wooden headed" could be substituted for it without any loss in meaning.

THIS PEST THREATENS EVERY DINNER TABLE

Warning Issued by Department of Agriculture Against Potato Tuber Moth

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Warning against a pest that threatens every dinner table in the land was issued today by the department of agriculture. The pest is the potato tuber moth, which is working havoc with the potato crop in numerous parts of the country and whose ravages threaten to prevent the planting of the vegetable in many places of the winter supply. It is especially prevalent in California and Texas, the department reports, and through shipments of early potatoes it is being introduced broadcast throughout the United States.

Experts of the bureau of entomology urge potato growers to look carefully over the potatoes they dig and destroy every potato and vine that shows the slighest signs of the moth. Special attention, they add, should be given to the seed potatoes, on which the subsequent crop depends. Fumigation with carbon bisulphide is recommended.

The scientists utter a warning against careless methods in planting and harvesting potatoes and declare 'unless protective and defensive measures are adopted at once, there will be a serious reduction of the potato crop."

RHEUMATISM COMES FROM CONDITIONS WHICH CAN BE REMEDIED

But Local Applications on the Skin Cannot Get at the Cause of Your Suffering.

Just a bilious attack and a slight deposit of uric acid. Now calomel and similar mercurial purgatives do not dissolve and expel the uric acid sediment that forms from undigested, fermenting foods, and when this poisonous acid is not expelled it accumulates quickly, thickens the blood and settles in joints and muscles. The joints and muscles then become stiff.

An attempt to cure this rheumatism must be directed toward removing uric acid from blood and tissues, breaking up the crystalline urates already formed and preventing new deposits.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is remarkably successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It dissolves uric acid out of the tissues, holds it in solution and expels it in the urine. It thoroughly cleanses the system of fermentation and purifies the blood. It will give prompt relief in all cases of rheumatism resulting from uric acid poisoning.

If you are suffering with rheumatism, try JACOBS' LIVER SALT immediately. It will relieve you more promptly and surely than anything else. Don't take an inferior substitute; some closely imitate the name, but none produces the same result. Insist on the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. 25c. If your druggist cannot supply you full size jar mailed upon receipt of price, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

GA. TAX RETURNS WILL DECREASE, SAYS SLATON

Governor Sends Special Message on Financial Problems to the Legislature

The returns on taxable values in Georgia counties will be less in 1914 than this year and the state must face another financial problem in estimating the revenue for the coming year, declared Governor John M. Slaton in a special message to the legislature Monday morning. Returns from fifteen counties show a decrease of $130,015 over the revenue of the preceding year, he points out, and this may be expected to prevail throughout the state.

The house already has passed a general appropriation bill calling for $280,625 more than the estimated revenue for 1914, the governor declared. The special report of the comptroller general, showing that the appropriations this year amount to $5,994,612, while the estimated revenue will be $5,673,065, also was presented.

Attention was called to the recent decision of Attorney General Felder, who favored the proposed law to empower the governor to borrow not exceeding $500,000, and to the resolution of Slater, of Bryan, which requests the governor to borrow this sum and apply it towards the payment of past due salaries of school teachers.

The governor referred to the apparent discrepancy between the report of the state treasurer and the agricultural department, explaining that the department had been forced to pay $5,000 for tags for which the legislature of 1912 appropriated $500.

The enactment of a law providing for filling any possible vacancy in the United States senate created by the loss of a Georgia senator was urged. Following the adoption of the amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of senators by popular vote the appointive power of the governors was annulled and under present conditions if a Georgia seat should become vacant it could not be filled until a legislature convened and provided for an election.

NEW YORKER PRAISES CITY'S SEWAGE PLANTS

Henry B. Faber Says They Are Best in the Country

Henry B. Faber, of New York, is in the city for the purpose of inspecting the city's new disposal plants. He arrived Sunday and spent all of Monday morning going over the Proctor Creek plant and Monday afternoon he will visit the Peachtree plant and the Entrenchment Creek plant.

In speaking of Atlanta's fine new equipment, Mr. Faber said:

"Atlanta has certainly hit the bull's eye, and has solved her sewage question.

"Other cities I have visited are studying these problems, but hardly any of our American cities have dared to venture as Atlanta has.

"Atlanta may be regarded as a pioneer in her work and should be congratulated on the successful outcome."

Canton Ga. Burglars Blow Express Safe Which Wasn't Locked

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CANTON, Ga., July 28.—Burglars broke in the L. & N. depot at Canton early Friday morning and blew open the unlocked safe but found nothing but a few worthless C. O. D. express packages.

They first broke into the Coggins Marble company's big plant and secured tools to work with, after which they went to the L. & N. depot and broke into the express room and blew open the safe of the Adams Express company.

The safe was not locked nor had been locked for sometime, but the doors were just pushed together.

There is no clue as to who did the work, but it is supposed that it was done by inexperienced men.

AUDIENCE APPLAUDS STARNES' FAREWELL

City Organist and His Wife Make Final Bow to Atlanta

Dr. Percy J. Starnes, for three years one of the most popular organists Atlanta has ever had, made his farewell appearance at the organ recital at the auditorium Sunday afternoon. He was assisted by Mrs. Starnes, and the large and enthusiastic audience loudly applauded both whenever they appeared upon the stage.

The program was one of the most enjoyable and highly appreciated ever given in Atlanta, and encores were frequent. Especially was Mrs. Starnes' voice praised by music lovers.

Mrs. Starnes' fine coloratura soprano voice was especially suited in the composition written for her by Dr. Starnes and rendered publicly for the first time. This composition is a setting for Hood's song, "A Lake and a Fairy Boat."

Dr. Starnes came upon the stage at the end of the recital, and in a short and fitting speech thanked the people of Atlanta for their co-operation with him during his three years' connection with the Atlanta Music Festival association.

Dr. and Mrs. Starnes have not yet decided to which city, of several from which they have offers, they will go upon leaving Atlanta about August 1.

ALTHOUGH IN PRISON, HIS FOLLOWERS OBEY

Elijah Sanford Directs "Holy Ghost and Us" Society From Atlanta Pen

While "Elijah" Sanford, head of the "Holy Ghost and Us" society, is maintaining his record as an exemplary prisoner in the federal penitentiary, he is directing his disciples, about 1,000 in number, in their daily work and is exercising supervision over their labors.

The colony of disciples at Shiloh, Me., is buzzing with the work of Sanford's followers, who are as obedient to his mandates as though he were personally watching them instead of serving a ten-year sentence behind the bars. Sanford is allowed to write one letter every two weeks, and each is forwarded to his followers.

"Till the ground" was his last order, and as a result some thirty-five acres are in seed. Corn, beets, cabbage and potatoes have been planted. "Moses" Charles Holland, who is head of the colony while Sanford is unavoidably detained, said Sunday in New Hampshire, according to a dispatch:

"Mr. Sanford wrote me to develop our natural resources and we are doing it. It looks as though by following his advice we will have a record crop."

NEGOTIATIONS SATISFY JAPANESE OFFICIALS

They Believe Uncle Sam's Friendliness Toward Japan Has Been Proven

While there may be another interchange of notes, administration officials feel that the diplomatic correspondence so far has established the friendliness of the United States for Japan and the absence of intent on its part to discriminate against Japanese.

Two Songs

One day I wrought a little song,
For honor and for gain;
I labored on it ever long
With care and skill and pain.

But when within the market-place
To sing it I made bold,
It brought me not one gladdened face,
Nor any fame nor gold.

Another day I wrought a song,
For love of singing sweet,
And oh, the quickly hasting throng!
And oh, the dancing feet

And oh, the praises loud and strong,
The gold I needs must take,
For that blithe song, that careless song
I sang for singing's sake

The Evening Story

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

The California Fund

It had begun a few moments after they became engaged.

"If we could manage to go to my sister's in California for our wedding trip," Titus said thoughtfully. "But I don't see how."

No. We mustn't think of anything so expensive. There'll be the house to furnish." Ollive thought of the little new home soon to be prepared for her. "We'll go some time," she said.

"I mean to. I've always hankered after California and Cynthia's being there would make such a trip very pleasant for us. I suppose Cynthia's husband is rich—very rich. He's an orange grower. You know, Cynthiaa's been married to him a good many years. She's my half-sister and twice as old as I am, you see. She went out to California when I was a child and she's never been back. But, of course, she's written for me to come and see her. I would have gone long ago if I could have got the money."

"I'd love to go," Ollive murmured.

"We're going to have our trip if we can manage."

"I'll tell you, Titus, we'll begin right now to plan. We'll save. We can do without much of a wedding trip; we'll get that be our wedding trip when it comes. And my ring——" She paused.

"I had intended to get you a diamond," Titus said. "I've got $100."

Ollive was radiant. "Let's start a bank account with half that," she cried. "A smaller diamond will mean just as much to me so long as it is pure and comes from you. We're going to have our trip if we can possibly manage it." Titus hugged her. "You're a darling Olive," he declared.

After all Olive was perfectly happy with her $50 diamond, her short wedding trip, and her little home. That first wonderful year the bank account grew steadily and as it grew California came nearer. Ollive got illustrated books on orange culture and such life and pored over them with Titus. "We want to be able to appreciate what we shall see," she said. "I don't want your sister to think you've married a fool."

"My sister will think I've married the nicest and smartest girl in the world," replied Titus fervently.

Ollive' little daughter came in the second summer of her marriage. Her coming drew heavily upon the bank account. Besides it complicated matters as far as their journey was concerned. "We'll have to count on taking her with us," she said one day to Titus. "And we'll have to save a lot more. We'll have to wait till she's four years old, don't you think?"

"If we wait till she's four, we certainly ought to have money enough," replied Titus.

But when Alice was four years old there still was not money enough. Another child had come, a boy, an artistic nature which overflowed the meagre proportions of the tiny bungalow and necessitated procuring a new house.

"That California fund seems to be always ready to help us out of a tight place, doesn't it?" Titus remarked. "When we get together again we'll keep it and use it as we intended."

They moved into the new house, so much larger than the bungalow that their adequate furnishings were lost in it. "I'll just have to use the money that's left, don't you see, Titus? Ollive said, "We can't get along without new things."

"Do it then," Titus cried jubilantly. "We'll soon accumulate more."

He had a few days before been put in the way of earning more money and was abounded with new hope and energy.

So the last of the California fund went. Ollive was suddenly lifted to a higher social plane than she had hitherto known, and found herself besieged with invitations. And of course she began to entertain. Even with Titus' increased salary the California fund assumed its old proportions very slowly. Ollive often sighed because of it. Try as she would she could not keep expenses down. The children were growing; they outgrew and destroyed an amazing lot of clothes. She herself had to appear in better gowns. The house was not all paid for. Living came high, but California seemed as far away as ever.

It begins to look as if we should never get there," Ollive sighed.

Titus cheered her. "Oh, yes, we shall. Next year, maybe. We'll see."

But next year both children had an ill which cost a good deal. And the year after just as the fund began to swell hopefully again, Titus was put to become a partner and needed the money he could get to put into the business.

"We won't quit hoping," he said, "begin to see daylight now. We're getting on, Ollive. And we're happy. The children are growing fine."

There came a day when Alice must have music lessons and a piano. She loved music and had unmistakable talent for it. So the California fund paid for the new upright and a long course for the bear instruction.

"I get value received every time I sit down of an evening and listen to Alice play," Titus said. "Think of having a girl big enough to make such music. I guess she'll surprise her Aunt Cynthia when we take her out to California."

The fund was again growing. It was almost large enough to take the four of them.

"I'm going to Marry Vincent."

"To California," they exclaimed.

Alice laughed softly. "Oh, dear, no. We are going to Italy. She closed the door. They stared at each other.

"To Italy!" they said. Then they clung together and laughed. Ollive wept a little, but not for unhappiness.

They felt somehow that the California fund had brought it all about, and it had become a habit in their lives.

So St. Louis Was Peeved

(Collier's Weekly.)

Some degree of asperity is excusable in the torrid term. But the spirited city of St. Louis appears to have let the temperature get a little the better of it during last month's barometric unpleasantness.

Because alien newspapers made taunting allegations that the thermometers of the river metropolis averaged a degree or some fraction of a degree higher than other mercury bulbs, its enlightened and esteemed press has been exhibiting symptoms of nervous strain; and its embattled editors have been accusing their contemporaries of that brand of misrepresentation usually expressed in three letters and not infrequently preceded by a dash.

Just why all this indignation, it is a bit difficult for an impartial observer, seated upon a lump of ice with his collar off and palm fans in each hand, to appreciate. To be sure, St. Louis was hot. So was every other known settlement in the misnamed temperate zone. And many of the others had to struggle through without any such mitigation as St. Louis has at its gates. No doubt many a community, 3 degrees cooler, would have been glad to exchange temperary climates if it could have had the great, cool, hospitable expanses of the Mississippi river thrown in.

St. Louis need not be so supersensitive over a fortuitous mercurial superiority. Taking it the year round, its climate is an asset rather than a liability, to which its populace may well "point with pride" rather than "view with alarm." If the others will do either, its citizenry may be counted upon to pull through the summer without appreciably greater discomfort than lesser cities suffer. After all, the least endurable form of heat is that generated from within the circumference of the victim's own collar.

New Frock of Pale Pink Satin

This charming afternoon frock shows a bodice and peplum of net, embroidered in rose color dots and edged with deep points of lace. Brown satin is used for the girdle. The shirred hem of the straight skirt is of pink satin. This is a season of parasols and the woman who understands their charm is seldom without one when she is out-of-doors. From the gingham ones that are used in the garden in the morning to the elaborate ones, like the one in the picture, which match afternoon frocks, they are all interesting. This one is of embroidered net edged with lace, like the bodice, and it is mounted over pink satin, shirred and puffed closely into place. The big hat is of black straw, trimmed with red roses.

A Week of Excitement

Uncle Eli Emmons's sparse beard waggled with ire as he rheumatically lowered himself upon the soap box, which the amiable proprietor, perched on the grocery counter, 'extended a friendly leg to push in his direction.

"I ain't got any use," he proclaimed, "for folks that goes away from the town that give 'em birth and breedin' and comes back prosp'rous, with their noses in the air, sniffin' and snickerin', because there don't aythin' happens there."

Uncle Silas Bonney, cautiously nibbling a sample cracker, paused to inquire, "Who's sniffin' and snickerin'—that young Totham feller?"

"Ump!" assented Uncle Eli. "He sprung his ideas on me down to the postoffice jest now. 'Kind of good to get back, Fred, ain't it?' I says; and says he, 'Mighty good, Uncle Eli. Mighty good to get out o' the whirl and rest up in a nice, peaceful place like this.' he says, 'all full of slums and old ladies, where there ain't nothin' happened sense I bruk your hen coop window with a baseball the day before I come away,' says he. And then he give a laugh, and says he, 'Her you got it mended yet, Uncle Eli? Bet a penny you ain't. The young—the young——"

How Jefferson's Humor Destroyed a Superstition

(From John Sharp Williams's "Thomas Jefferson," published by the Columbia University Press.)

Instead of the old laws against witchcraft —which had existed not in New England alone, as some people from the way they talk seem to think, but also in Old England and in Virginia—Jefferson substituted this in Virginia:

"All attempts to delude the people or to abuse their understanding by the pretended arts of witchcrafts, conjigations, enchantments or sorcery or by pretended prophecies, shall be punished by ducking or whipping at the discretion of a jury, not exceeding fifteen stripes."

In other words, instead of punishing anybody for being a witch, the punishment was meted out to those who pretended to be witches. Thus anybody in Virginia to be innocent of witchcraft had only to deny his "witchship," and to be guilty must be a liar and fraud enough "to pretend witchcraft!"

To wipe out a superstition by a piece of legal irony like that, approaches humor, though Jefferson's was not a humorous character.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit sitting on his sunning bank in the far corner of the Old Pasture, suddenly realized that he wanted to be good looking. Yes, sir, he wanted to be good looking. He wished that he was bigger. He wished that he was the biggest and strongest rabbit in the world. He wished that he had a handsome coat. And it was all because of the soft, gentle eyes of little Miss Fuzzytail. He had seen them peeping out at him once, and he felt pretty sure that they had peeped out at him often. He felt sure that it was little Miss Fuzzytail herself who had left the pile of sweet clover close by his sunning bank while he was asleep. The fact is, Peter Rabbit was falling in love. All he had seen of little Miss Fuzzytail was her soft, gentle eyes, for she was very shy and had kept out of sight, but ever since he had first seen them he had thought and dreamed of nothing else until it seemed as if there was nothing in the world he wanted so much as to meet her. Perhaps he would have wanted this still more if he had known that it was because she had fooled her father, old Jed Thumper, the big gray old rabbit, who had made life so miserable for Peter, leading him to other parts of the Old Pasture, that Peter had been able to have the long nap on the sunning bank he so needed.

"I've just got to meet her. I've just got to!" said Peter to himself.

For the first time in his life Peter Rabbit had begun to think about his clothes. Always he had been such a happy-go-lucky fellow that it never had entered his head to care how he looked. He laughed at Sammy Jay for thinking so much of that beautiful blue and white coat he wears, and he poked fun at Reddy Fox for bragging so much about his handsome suit. As for himself Peter didn't care how he looked. If his coat was whole or in rags and tags, it was all the same to Peter.

But now Peter began to wish that he was big and fine looking.

"My, I must be a sight!" he thought. I wonder how I do look anyway. I must hunt up a looking glass and find out."

Now when Peter Rabbit thinks of doing a thing he wastes very little time. It was that way now. He started at once for the bit of swamp where he had first seen the tracks of old Jed Thumper. He still limped from the wounds made by Hooty the Owl the night he came to the Old Pasture, but in spite of this he could travel pretty fast, and it didn't take him long to reach the swamp. There, just as he expected, he found a looking glass. What was it like? Why, it was just a tiny pool of water. Yes, sir, it was a quiet pool of water that reflected the ferns growing around it, and the branches of the trees hanging over it and—why, Peter Rabbit himself sitting on the edge of it. That was Peter's looking glass.

For a long time he stared into it. At last he gave a great sigh. "My but I am a sight!" he exclaimed.

He was. His coat was ragged and torn from the claws of Hooty the Owl and the teeth of old Jed Thumper. The white patch on the seat of his trousers was stained and dirty from sitting down in the mud. There were burrs tangled in his waistcoat. He was thin, and altogether a miserable looking Rabbit.

"It must be that Miss Fuzzytail just pities me. She certainly can't admire me," muttered Peter as he pulled out the burrs.

For the next hour Peter was very busy. He washed and he brushed and he combed. When at last he had done all that he could he took another look in his looking glass, and what he saw was a very different looking Rabbit.

"Though I am homely, lank, and lean "I can at least be neat and clean," said he as he started back for the sunning bank.

(Yonkers Statesman.)

Patrice—Yes, he did.
Patience—And did you ask him to tell no one of it?
Patrice—Yes; but, just like a man, it wasn't two minutes before he repeated it.

Spoke Quite Well for a Foreigner

(Kansas City Star.)

An employe in an establishment where competition is very sharp wished to make a favorable impression on a new customer. That she was a foreigner was quite evident, but the youth could not decide on her nationality.

"How long have you been in this country?" he ventured.

"Six months," she replied.

"Only six months! What a remarkable command of English you have acquired in so short a time!" gushed the clerk.

"Sir, I have lived in England all my life," she replied icily.

Crackers Are In Mobile for Fight for the Second Position

SENATORS' GOOD WORK KEEPS THEM IN RACE

Work of Johnson and Boehling Responsible for Griff's Showing—Fall of Pirates Gives Giants Clear Field

NEW YORK, July 28.—The approach of August finds the teams in the major league baseball races down almost to the vanishing point, so far as the premier berths are concerned.

With Pittsburg's upward rush checked by three straight defeats by the Giants and neither Philadelphia nor Chicago displaying sustained winning power, there seems nothing to prevent New York from taking another National league pennant.

In the American league the situation is much the same, with the Athletics in the commanding position and only Washington seriously refusing to concede Connie Mack's men another chance at the major slice of world's series money.

The breaking up of the Pirate attack on the Giants' pennant aspirations was the big feature of the baseball week just ended.

Another feature was the small number of contests staged. Instead of the usual fifty to sixty or more games only forty were played in the National and forty-eight in the American league.

Among other points of interest is the showing of the Senators. Griffith's lively crew has lost but two games in the last two weeks and is gaining in percentage rapidly. Only a game and a half separates them from the Clevelands, who managed to keep pace with the Athletics, each of these last two clubs having won four and lost two games in the week.

ELEVEN GAMES BACK.

Washington is eleven games behind the Mackmen—a gap it might be possible for them to close up or materially lessen if the leaders were on the road, where their showing this season has been poor. The former champions are now at home for a comparatively long stand, however, and their past performances indicate that it will be hard to gain on them there.

Washington's success is attributable in large part to the sterling work of its great pair of pitchers, Johnson and Boehling, the phenomenal young left-hander registering his eleventh consecutive victory this week. Twenty-two of the Senators' other victories are credited to Johnson, who is charged with but five defeats. Engel also has lately come to the front.

The case of Chicago is hard to fathom. The team was going well until within a few days when it struck a streak of poor batting, worse fielding and failed to get high-class pitching.

Hal Chase got into one of those spasms of error-making which he sometimes encountered with New York. Chappelle, the new, high-priced outfielder, has been of little service. For some reason he has been sitting on the bench most of the time for the past few days.

The Bostons, after a poor road trip, during which they made their quick change of managers, are playing better ball at home. St. Louis ran up against Washington's winning streak before leaving the west, and is now struggling with the aforesaid streak in the Senators' home pasture. The New Yorks finished their foreign tour with seven games won and eight lost. Some promise has been shown recently by Detroit's work, the club apparently finding it especially easy to beat Philadelphia.

Aside from the Giant-Pittsburg clash, the recovered form of the Philadelphias —shown by the continuation of their good work of the week before—and Brooklyn's brace were about the only notable features in the National league this week.

BROOKLYN'S STAND.

If Brooklyn keeps up its present gait, its western trip will be far more successful than its last home stand.

Boston and Cincinnati each was on the wrong side of the account in games won and lost last week, and the Reds have made a new beginning on the new playing period. St. Louis got an even break through Sallee's ability against the Giants and Brooklyn. Chicago also was on the losing side of the ledger, but pulled ahead of Boston today. The Pittsburgs are likely to do better now that they are at home again after having passed through the ordeal with New York on a foreign field.

Couldn't Buy Ty's Release

DETROIT, July 28.—"No club in the American league or in any other would give either in cash or players what Ty Cobb is worth to Detroit. There is no possibility that Cobb will go to Boston."

President Navin of the Tigers, this morning thought that the above statement from him should silence the stories from Boston that the Peach and Tris Speaker would shortly figure in a trade between the two clubs. Navin pointed out that Cobb's own desires in the matter would hardly be taken into consideration at this time.

It has been an open secret here for months that Cobb wanted a change, and his letter to a Boston newspaper in which he expressed a fondness for going with Carrigan's outfit caused no surprise to the fans. Repeatedly last spring when Cobb was a hold-out he declared his desire to be traded.

Cobb said today that these statements will stand.

THOMPSON TO DO HURLING

MOBILE, Ala., July 28.—Mobile and Atlanta will tie up in the second game of the last series to be played on the home diamond in some weeks, and the local club will offer Heinie Berger for their pitcher and Schmidt as catcher.

For Atlanta it is Thompson's turn to pitch and Chapman will appear behind the platter.

The games today and tomorrow should be battles royal, as the two contestants are rivals for third place.

CHANGES FOR JUST A DAY

A full schedule was played in the Southern league Sunday. Both Montgomery and Mobile won, while Atlanta lost. Birmingham, in dividing a double bill climbed within one point of the Crackers, while Chattanooga is not out of the fight for third place yet, as they are within a few points of Birmingham.

The Giants, piloted by Rube Marquard, won another Sunday. Rube compiled his ninth straight win. Philadelphia did not play a Sunday game.

There were no games scheduled in the American league.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 28.—Fair weather was promised early today for this afternoon's baseball battle between the Chattanooga and Montgomery clubs. During the forenoon the skies were practically cloudless.

Kroh and Graham will be in the box for the visitors today. Case will pitch for Montgomery and Gribbens will catch.

NEW ORLEANS, July 28.—Prough and Hardgrove, with Clifton and Mayer behind the bat, and Green and Glavenish, recruits, pitching for the locals, with Angermier catching, were the batteries announced for the second double-header of the series this afternoon with Birmingham. Weather clear and warm.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 28.—Harrell, for Memphis, and either Beck, or Brackenridge, for Nashville, will probably be the pitching staff in the second game of the present series to be played here today. Seabough and Lindsay will do the backstop work.

Clear and warm weather prevails.

Travers Preparing For Golf Honors

NEW YORK, July 28.—Jerome D. Travers is preparing for the quest of another national amateur golf championship by putting in practically the whole summer on the links. He has shown his form at Powelton, where, in addition to winning the medal in record figures, he took the chief prize as well as at the Ardsley club, near Troy, where he set a new record for the nine-hole course by going around in 36, and at Hallpoint, where he set the record at 68, three strokes better than Oswald Kirkby was able to do. He evidently plans to keep up his practice throughout the five weeks intervening before the championship is started at Garden City.

Travers considers that it will only be by top-notch play that the American title can be kept from going abroad again, and he looks to Abe Mitchell, runner-up in the British amateur championship last year, as one of the most arrogant competitors.

James M. Rosenberger, of the Irish-American Athletic club, and Homer Baker, of the New York Athletic club, will represent the eastern section on the United States in the all-American team which will visit Australia next fall. A couple of Pacific coast stars are also to be included in the team. The tour includes all the principal cities of Australia and New Zealand.

Hurling Duel To Gull Team

Dent Pitched Good Ball, but Lost Out in Battle With Bradley Hogg

MOBILE, Ala., July 28.—Atlanta dropped another game, Sunday, while the locals got away with a close contest. Three thousand fans witnessed the close fought game which was full of thrills.

The fourth round gave Mobile their only runs, two in number, while the Crackers' lone tally came in the fifth. All the rest of the game was a battle between Hogg and Dent.

Dunn was ejected from the contest in the third round for the use of spicy and salient language, and, at the order of Police Chief Crenshaw, was taken from the grounds and put under a bond. The incident to which Mr. Dunn referred in his language was the hit of Stock down the right field foul line, which Dunn claimed foul and Wright claimed fair.

Captain Starr and some of the Mobile players begged that Dunn be allowed to continue the game and Billy Smith also requested that he be allowed to finish as the team was already in a crippled condition.

It was not, however, the umpire who yanked Dunn. It was the police force, at the complaint of Assistant District Attorney Tompert, that got on the job and beckoned him from the field. An argument of fifteen minutes delayed the game, but finally Dunn was taken to the police station and allowed to give bond.

Mobile's runs came in the following manner: In the fourth inning Paulet went out, O'Dell singled, Robertson singled, and O'Dell went to third, scoring on a double steal. Schmidt flew out and Clark scored Robertson on a two-sacker. McGill ended the inning with a roller to Dent.

In the fifth the Crackers got their run on a double by Chapman, who scored on two infield outs.

BALL PLAYER KILLED; RAN INTO BARBED WIRE FENCE.

ST. JAMES, Minn., July 28.—Running into deep center field to get under a long high fly in a baseball game here yesterday, Richard Bloomquist, a young farmer, crashed into a hay buck-er and was pierced through the chest by an iron prong. He died immediately.

Winning 11 games in a row is some considerable performance in a major league.

Earlier this season Fred Falkenberg won 10 games for the Naps and was lauded to the skies as the "come back marvel." The work of the human string was splendid, but, then, Falkenberg is a veteran of many big league battles, as indeed are 90 per cent of the men who accumulate a long list of yins.

Just how the major leagues are gossiping about the wonderful pitching of Joe Boehling, the left-handed star of the hustling Washington crew. Boehling's work is so sensational it threatens to become a scandal. He has won 11 straight games without a losing performance.

In May Clarke Griffith was bemoaning the fact that he did not have a first-class left-hander to balance, his team and meanwhile Boehling was sitting on the bench with his ear to the ground.

Boehling was playing corner lot ball in Richmond, Va., last year, when he was "discovered" by Bill Peet, a Washington baseball scribe.

Peet induced Griffith to sign Boehling, and after looking the lad over, Griff sent him to Chattanooga, where he played for a short time. Chattanooga shipped Boehling to Jesse Burkett's Worcester, Mass., club and there the boy struck his gait, winning 14 out of 22 games and batting .315.

Late in the fall Griffith recalled Boehling. Why he didn't start the kid the full route this last spring is a mystery.

TO MAKE RAPID CHANGES IN RACE BETWEEN TEAMS

RESULTS

No Rider Can Be on Track More Than Twenty Successive Minutes

The half hour team race with all ten riders in competition is the main attraction at the motordrome for Tuesday evening. Besides the big event, there will be a special match race between Harry Glenn and Fred Luther and a mortordrome sweepstakes of two heats.

The special team race is something new for Atlantians and promises to be just as thrilling and exciting as the big marathon which was shown last week. The riders have been paired off with a view of giving each team a chance to win the race. The rules of the race are very strict from re-maining on the track more than twenty minutes in succession, which will give each rider a chance to show his speed.

Rapid changes will have to be made to give the different racers a chance to get on the track and in these changes the race will largely depend. The team that can change most quickly will stand the best chance of winning out. Graves and McNeil and Richards and Shields are now rated as the favorites though the other three teams are strong and may slip over a surprise.

Here is the program:

FIRST EVENT.

First heat Motordrome Sweepstakes. (One mile to qualify and two mile final.) Starters—Graves, Shields, Richards, Renel, Lewis.

SECOND EVENT.

First heat of a match race between Glenn and Luther. (Race to be two heats heats in three. Distance—two miles.

THIRD EVENT.

Second heat of Motordrome Sweepstakes. Starters—Schwartz, Lockner, Luther, McNeil, Glenn.

FOURTH EVENT.

Second heat of match race between Glenn and Luther.

FIFTH EVENT.

Final heat of Motordrome Sweepstakes. (Winners of first and second heats and second man in fastest heat to start.)

SIXTH EVENT.

Third heat of match race between Glenn and Luther if necessary.

SEVENTH EVENT.

Half-hour team race. Teams—Graves and McNeil; Schwartz and Lockner; Shields and Richards; Luther and Lewis; Renal and Glenn. (No rider can remain on track over twenty successive minutes.)

THREE CATCHERS ARE LIKELY TO GO HIGHER

ATLANTA AND BARONS BEST

Chawles Frank opines that this year's chase is between Birmingham and Atlanta, which shows that Cholly can, at least, be original. "Montgomery has played above its normal speed," says Frank, "and Mobile, I imagine, has shot its bolt. Here's where I get all this: Atlanta and Birmingham finish up their reason with a long string of games at home. 'Bill' Smith should have done better with the material he has, but the only trouble he'll get is from the Birmingham crowd." Right on top of this we read where the Barons were walloped by Montgomery and Atlanta lost to Memphis.—New Orleans Item.

SOUTHERNERS WHO STARRED

Jim Archer had a finger split by a foul in Sunday's game, and will probably be out of the game for a day or two.

Zach Wheat rapped on two in five times up in the first game of Sunday's double bill, while in the second he only got one out of five.

Jake Daubert got one out of five in the first game and one out of three in the second.

Red Smith suffered a slight slump from his usual terrific slugging on Sunday, when he did not get a hit in the first game and got only two in the second, in an aggregate of nine times at bat.

Nap Rucker held the Cardinals to five hits, and won his game by an 8 to 1 score.

Millen Team Ready For East Point

MILLEN, Ga., July 28.—Having won a series of games from the Savannah team, Millen again tackles East Point in a series of games to be played on the local lot. Millen and East Point played here two weeks ago and the games were the prettiest ever seen, two of the contests being of the extra inning variety, one of them going to 14 innings, being won by the locals in the last chapter, while the last game went eleven innings without a man crossing the pan for either side.

Pacific Coast Stars In Western Tourney

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Western Lawn Tennis tournament was in full sway today at Onwentsia, the out-of-town experts getting into action. There was a large gallery about the courts to watch the work of John H. Strachan and Clarence Griffin, of San Francisco, who were fresh from important victories in the national clay court championships at Omaha last week.

Gibson, Chapman and Mayer Have Turned Out Good Ball All Season—Are Rivals of the Two Star Veterans

While the catching of Charles Street of Chattanooga, and Charley Schmidt of Mobile, has been coming in for a lot of boosting the sensational work of three kids—Harry Chapman, of Atlanta; Frank Gibson, of Nashville, and Mayer of Birmingham—should not be overlooked in commenting upon the great value receivers have been giving their teams.

There is no doubt but that the excellent work being turned out by the Mobile and Chattanooga clubs has been largely due to the grand work of the veteran receivers yet the three youngsters above mentioned have also shown up in the grandest possible form and right now are ripe for a trial in fast company. Street and Schmidt have served their time in the majors, having learned the art of catching while in the big ring, while Gibson, Chapman and Mayer are kids at the game and have a lot to learn.

All three of the Southern's star kid receivers were last season called to the big show for a trial, but owing to their youth and inexperience were shifted to the Southern for a bit more seasoning. Strings were kept on the bunch and with the start of the 1914 season they may again be with the major clubs.

All season Mayer and Gibson have been going in grand fashion and have more than once attracted the attention of major league scouts. It was shortly after the start of the season that Chapman was secured by Atlanta, and this put him a bit late in getting started, but right now he is moving at a pace that will carry anybody to the big ring. He is working the pitching in in amazingly good fashion and is beginning to hit. And above all he can peg to the bags.

GIBSON IS 18 YOUNG.

Catcher Frank Gibson, of Nashville, is just twenty-three years of age and has been at the professional end of the game but three years. It was while a member of the Dallas Texas league club last season that he attracted sufficient notice to be drafted by the Detroit Tigers. At the time he was picked up by Detroit, Catcher Oscar Stanage was a holdout and it was believed Gibson would get a chance to fill in Stanage's shoes. However, Stanage came into the fold a bit later and this caused Gibson to be let out to Nashville.

With Nashville Gibson is going great. He is hitting in the .300 class and throwing to the bags in great style. He possesses a good head and Detroit has already decided to pull the string when the time comes.

Walter Mayer, who is at present with the Barons, came into prominence while in the Blue Grass league. He was picked up by the Chicago White Sox and farmed out to Birmingham. It is most likely that he will be recalled for work in the American league with the start of the 1914 season. Mayer has been working in every game for the Barons and his good headwork has been largely responsible for the climb of the Baron club.

Harry Chapman, the third member of the star youngster brigade, is a member of the Atlanta crew. He learned to play ball out west and last season was nabbed by the Cincinnati club. He sat on the bench for a long time and upon first reporting to Atlanta was a bit off in his work. However, lately he has picked up in every department and right now is playing jam up ball. And he stands a chance of going higher.

BUNTS AND SINGLES BY JULIAN MURPHEY

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?

With four straight losses staring them in the face, the Atlanta Crackers right at present do not look like a pennant-winning aggregation. The players appear to be on hand, but somehow concerted action cannot be secured, and this is causing loss after loss of games that should come our way.

While, of course, the 1913 pennant is yet far from being won, every little win or loss for the teams in the upper division counts for a lot, and it is best to keep every win you can get. There is no use in holding off with the idea that the team will get started on the home stay is begun. A game in July counts just as much as a game in August or September, and tends to cause a great deal better feeling among the home fans.

Just what is lacking in the Atlanta ball club is a mystery. Some say it is a weak pitching staff; others claim the outfield does not play the proper kind of defensive game, while Memphis writers state that the club has lost its spirit and the players are not getting along with Billy Smith.

WAS NO DISSENSION.

Concerning the charges that the players and manager are not getting along in harmony, nothing is known here. When the team left town everything was rosy, and if any internal trouble has arisen it has been since the club left that burg. When last here it was evident that the players had the greatest respect for Billy's ability as a leader, and Billy was a great believer in the players he has assembled to fight for a pennant for Atlanta. It seems hardly possible that any big trouble could have come up during the short time the team has been on the road.

The friendship among the Cracker players is of the very best. They all get along together in the best fashion possible, it being impossible to get together eighteen professional ball players who would like each other any better. You never hear charges of one throwing down the other, or any other petty quarrels. They all believe each is working for the best interest of the club, and any inkling that there is internal trouble has never been suggested.

To turn out the best possible work it is positively necessary that every member of the club work his hardest for the success of the team. You can't play for individual records and give the fans good baseball. Just such work as this has ruined more than one good ball club, and will continue to do the same thing just as long as tried. The cause must be looked upon as a common one, and all players must at all times do their best to win games.

The present losing streak cannot be accounted for in any way except a temporary slump due to the hot weather down in New Orleans, Memphis, Montgomery and Mobile. Atlanta, you know, is like a seashore resort when compared with this quartet of cities, and to jump from here and play good ball in a hotter clime is almost out of the question. The work of the club upon the next home stay will tell the tale and show just what has been the trouble.

ATLANTA FANDOM TO SEE STARS IN BIG POLO GAME

On Wednesday afternoon, August 6, at 3:30 p. m. a polo game will be staged for the benefit of Atlantians who are interested in the pastime of millionaires. The Fort McPherson team, captained by Lieutenant Hornsby Evans, will meet an all-Southern team, consisting of players from Camden, Jacksonville, Augusta and Atlanta. The local men are Lamar Hill, Dr. J. O. Seamans, and Tom Weaver.

There will also be a tug of war on horseback, in which the polo ponies will be used, and other military games. The military band and company M. Glee club and quartet will furnish music for the occasion.

Many of the local sportsmen are anxious to form a polo club in Atlanta, similar to that in other cities, and efforts are being made to make the game a society as well as athletic event. Colonel J. T. Van Orsdale will throw the polo ball into the field, and Governor Slaton and wife and other prominent society men and women of Atlanta are expected to attend.

Polo has been played in Atlanta under a different name and in different form. Doubtless you have played it. It is dignified and expensive "shinny." The only difference being that polo is played on horseback, whereby hangs the expense, and "shinny" is played by small boys in the street.

Any one, however, who likes good horseback riding and who has played shinny will enjoy the polo match.

Further idea of the game can be gained from the exhibit of polo sticks and balls and other regalia which will be exhibited all this week in A. G. Spalding's windows.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

It had to arrive sooner or later, but it still seems to be a trifle disjointed to see the old flag triumvirate, Giants, Pirates and Cubs, broken up with a strange entry in the hunt.

For twelveve years these three clubs have ruled the National plain. First it was Pittsburg; then it was New York; then it was Chicago, and then New York again, but always it was two of these or three of these fighting it on to the wire, with the others nowhere.

TRADITION PASSES.

But now tradition passes. That double blow in the portcullis earlier in the week put the final skids beneath the hopes and dreams of Cub and Pirate. Both woke up Wednesday morning sixteen games from the Land of Plenty, out of the race, with nothing left but a reassembling of the spring training clan for 1914.

Each has a chance to finish second, and Pittsburg may land that well up, but first place is now beyond all reach. Baseball is baseball, and the dope is replete with ungainly kinks, but a 200 point or thereabouts margain on the edge of August is too close up against the miracle run to be given much thought.

UP TO PHILLIES.

Evidently, now, if there is to be a National league race, it is up to the Phillies.

If they blow, also, the proceedings for 1913 might be considered closed out until Chief Bender steps in against Mathewson on or about October 8.

The Phillies were supposed to blow sometime ago; but they have swung on gamely, and may yet make a fight of it and keep the dope pot boiling through the ides of September. Their only show is to chop down the gap on their next western swing. Otherwise, the situation explains itself.

1913 GIANTS.

McGraw undoubtedly has a better club now than he has drawn for three years. In fact, his present array is probably the best ball club he ever led. He has the pitching, the batting, the fielding and the speed. The general combination is beyond all reach, if there is anything in the dope.

Of his last 50 contests, McGraw has won 42 and lost 8. This clip is enough to break up any race.

It isn't hard to find the answer. To his 1912 outfit the Giant leader has added Burns, a fine outfielder, and Demaree, a fine young pitcher. And to further boost affairs, Fletcher is not only fielding brilliantly, but leading the team at bat, while Snodgrass is playing far beyond old form and is next to Fletcher with the war club, well above such steady swatsmen as Larry Doyle and Chief Meyers.

Add to a pennant winning club two stars and great improvement in two old regulars and the answer is fairly well apparent to the naked eye.

The rickety trip of the Athletics through the west has stirred up a rumble that perhaps after all Mack's team may be headed off. The only trouble is that about the time this rumor gets well under way the peevish Athletics rise up and tear off about ten straight. They manage to get trimmed here and there, but they also manage to keep the gap open, with no one to be rated as fairly close.

Hans Wagner recently whiffed four times in one afternoon, thereby proving that sooner or later Old Doc Time steps in to collect.

There will be time enough for Congress to investigate the baseball trust when Walter Johnson begins to pitch every other day. If this isn't unlawful restraint of trade there never was a monopoly.

They say Connie Mack and McGraw are lucky. So were Alexander, Caesar and Bonaparte—lucky to know where to go and get the talent and how to handle it after the collecting had been accomplished.

Griff picked up Washington in seventh place and he has his team up there fighting among the leaders, but not a regular on his club came from a rival team. Moeller, Shanks, Foster, Morgan, Boehling and the rest were all gathered in from outside quarters.

Millen Takes Series From Savannah Club

MILLEN, Ga., July 28.—After being rained out on Tuesday and Wednesday, Millen and Savannah played two games here Thursday, Savannah winning the morning game by the score of 6 to 2, owing to the intense heat the game was slow and listless. The game was marked by the erratic fielding of both teams. Batteries for Millen, Daniel and Moore; for Savannah, Daniel and Hall.

The afternoon game was a much faster and prettier game and was won by the locals, score 2 to 0. Ray pitching for Millen struck out 14 men and threw but 8 batters. The features of the game was running catch by Gregory in center field for the locals, and the hitting of Riner for Savannah. Not a Savannah man reached third in this game, and only two were allowed to reach second. Batteries for Millen, Ray and Moore; for Savannah, Balantyne and Hall.

The last game of the series was won by Millen, the score being 3 to 2. Dan Hall for the locals twirled big league ball, fanning 14 men and giving up only 4 scattered hits. The feature of the game was a circus catch of a fly ball in left by Parker.

WILLARD BIGGEST MAN IN THE RING; HE HAS IT ON JACK JOHNSON AND JOHN L.

Barwise, the Boston Athletic association high jump champion, is a fine specimen of an athlete. He was discovered a couple of seasons ago by George Brown, of the Boston association.

"Bob" Deady, a well-known manager of boxers, is about to quit the squared circle and will have charge of a Philadelphia theater.

Whitey Morse Now Manager

VALDOSTA, Ga., July 28.—The baseball fans of Valdosta regret very much to know that Whitey Morse, their first baseman and one of the most popular men on the Valdosta team, has severed his connection with the club to take the management of the Brunswick Pilots. Morse was a favorite here, because he was always faithful and could be counted on in a pinch. He and Manager Jordon were a whole team by themselves and when a hit was needed Morse could always be depended upon to furnish it.

It is understood that Linenger, the young third baseman who was suspended some time ago, and Franks, the right fielder who was released on insubordination, will both join the Brunswick team. Both of these players are good ones, and they scarred for Valdosta during the first half of the season, but Linenger was young and began to lose out, due probably to overwork.

Brunswick is fortunate to get Morse, and it is predicted that he will make good there.

Fairburn Wins

FAIRBURN, July 28.—Fairburn won an interesting game from the Independents of Atlanta, on Friday, July 25. The game was close from the beginning, the score being tied three times during the game. Padgett struck out ten men, and also won his game with a hit in the tenth inning.

Savannah and Columbus Best

The week opens in the South Atlantic league with the Columbus team still in the lead, having won four of five games played last week. Other teams have not changed their positions. Macon still is at the foot of the percentage column, struggling to pass Charleston, two games ahead.

Savannah, pennant winner in the first half of the season, is pushing Columbus for first place. Three games straight will put the Savannah team ahead if Columbus loses two. The other teams have far to go to overtake the leaders.

Rain interfered with games throughout the week. There were no games Monday and only on Wednesday and Thursday did all teams in the league play.

Jess Willard, the giant cowboy, is the biggest man pugilism has known since the days of Ned O'Baldwin, the Irish giant, who won the heavyweight championship under London rules in 1888, beating Joe Wormald in one round, near Lynnfield, Mass.

Willard stands six feet five inches in his stockings and in condition weighs 220 poinds, which is 10 pounds more than Jeffries fought at, 20 more than Johnson, and 36 more than John L. Sullivan. Despite his great height, Willard's flesh is evenly distributed over his great frame, he being one of the most symmetrically built boxers who ever stepped into the ring.

His reach is something enormous, as the illustration shows. Jack Vucinich, the boxer, standing in front of him, being a pretty good sized man himself, standing six feet and weighing 195 pounds. With arms outstretched, Willard measures 82 inches from finger tip to finger tip, or two inches short of seven feet.

For a man of his enormous size he is exceedingly fast with both foot and hand and is fairly clever, thanks to the tutelage of Bob Fitzsimmons. Ruby Robert taught him how to shoot in a straight left, followed by a hard right that goes as true as an arrow, describing no arcs as the blows of so many boxers do.

Willard learned that he could fight while driving a freight team in Oklahoma. He won some fights chiefly because he was so big and powerful that the other fellow was battered down despite Willard's greenness, and when Carl Morris began to make a stir in the boxing world. Willard entered the white hope lists and has done all that has been asked of him.

COULDN'T WIELD STICK; TOPS MAJOR HITTERS

The Silence Was Oppressive

From left to right the stands were full, full,
But every voice was still;
The coachers begged the crowd to "pull"
But every voice was still;
The score was tied up tight that day,
But every voice was still;
With but one inning left to play,
But every voice was still;
And Harry Welchonce stood at bat,
But every voice was still;
There were three men on base at that,
But every voice was still;

YES! Every voice was still,
For E. BROWN held the pill.

Tight Race Is Waged For Carolina Pennant

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 28.—The fourteenth week of the North Carolina league shows four teams fierce contenders for the pennant. Winston-Salem, which has occupied the top position for the last six weeks, still retains that position with a percentage of .575, while Asheville is in second place, only two games behind the leaders. Durham and Raleigh are tied for third place, only three and a half games to the rear of Winston-Salem, while Charlotte is in fourth and Greensboro is fifth, although only thirteen and a half games separate the cellarites from the leaders. Durham, Raleigh and Greensboro have each strengthened the past week by additional new players.

McLoughlin and Bundy Are to Defend Titles

BOSTON, July 28.—Maurice E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, both of San Francisco, national champions in tennis doubles, will defend their title during tennis week at Newport, R. I., next month.

This became known here today through a telegram from Bundy, who said he is to come east within a few days. It is expected he will also enter the national singles championship matches. McLoughlin and other American players will come to Newport following the conclusion of their matches abroad.

Cincinnati Reds Did Not Take to McDonald Because He Was Weak Sticker – Doing Fine for Boston

Charley McDonald, Boston Braves' third baseman, is now leading the National league in hitting. "Tex" came through the south in the spring of 1912, the Reds having gotten him from Dallas, Tex. Many have confused him with the McDonald now with Birmingham, but the latter is from the Cubs, who got him from one of the small leagues o fthe middle west. George Stallings took the boy from the Reds at the waiver price on a tip from the newspaper men following the Giants while the New York club was in Boston, a short time ago. McGraw first saw McDonald a couple of years ago at Marlin, the training ground of the Giants, when the third baseman and another member of the Dallas club named Thebo joined the Giants to get into physical condition for the Texas league season, and he used McDonald and Thebo on one team. He had no permanent place for McDonald himself, but his strong recommendation of the youngster to Herrmann, indicated that McDonald had made a good impression on him. McDonald seems to be another Heine Zimmerman in point of hitting. In 1911, with the Dallas club he hit .324 in 144 games, although he displayed no unusual slugging ability with Cincinnati last season. At present McDonald is whaling the ball at a .462 rate.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 3 Points Off to 6 Points Up From Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—Considerable irregularity was shown at the opening of the cotton market this morning, ruyr advancing 2@4cents, while later prices were unchanged to 10 points net lower. Subsequently the new crops recovered their loss on considerable that Texas had not received enough rain over Sunday and that nothing more than scattered showers were in sight. A renewal of southern selling, the fact that Liverpool was 3 to 4 points too low, and moderate prompt or local selling orders, explained the initial declines here our side of 2@3, which was followed by a few shorts.

In the early afternoon there was a return to the day's lowest prices of the day, the market weakening under growing belief that Texas may have had more than scattered and private advices indicated. In the absence of detailed Texas reports that idea was helped by more rains in the Alabama belt and local reports of rain at Houston.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 28.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 point down to 5 points up, compared with the last prices of Saturday. Cables were better than due and the weather map indicated very little rain in the western half of the belt overnight, although good rains were noted in the eastern belt. Crop accounts were conflicting and while it is stated that drought conditions still prevailed over a part of Texas and Oklahoma, while the fears contended that the general effect of the cotton crop had already suffering for want of moisture. After the call the market had a good business and at the end of the first half hour of business prices were 5 to 10 points over Saturday's close.

At the highest the trading months were 8 points over Saturday's last quotation. Moderate buying started to hold prices up. There was little short selling until toward noon, when reports of many bales of new cotton at this point and the claim that picking would be general over a large part of that state before this week's end caused considerable selling by the bear side and the marked eased off under the selling to sterling at noon at a net advance of only 1 to 2 points.

COMMERCIAL-APPEALS CROP REPORT.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 28.—Reports from all correspondents of the cotton belt indicate a condition of 82.1, an improvement for the month of .3 per cent. The condition is based on July 25, the date upon which the government condition will be announced. Although general rain was noted east of the river, where under very fair weather conditions, the plant has made great progress, and made an unusual growth, the intenese caused by a drouth early in the season, has improvement, and is destroy 10 per cent offset in a measure by somedeterioration west of the river in Oklahoma and Texas. The weather during the past week has been favorable in all sections except in Texas and Oklahoma and a few widely scattered sections in Arkansas, Benefitting rains fell over the east, most of Louisiana and Arkansas and some portions of Oklahoma and north Texas, but there was plenty sunshine. white temperatures were generally below normal in all sections, except in Oklahoma and parts of Texas, where it was hot the first of the week. In central and western Texas deterioration has been pronounced and while general rains are badly needed to revive the plant and set it on the way to maturity again.

Oklahoma needs rain, but many places good precipitation last week. The crop is being laid by in a very perfect state of cultivation, except that in boll weevil districts cultivation is being kept up in order to destroy the boll weevil. There are still many weevils in portions of Mississippi and Louisiana, but less than a fortnight ago. Picking has begun in the former state from this source is small. Conditions by states for this month: Tennessee, 80; Mississippi, 81; Arkansas, 88; Alabama, 82; Oklahoma, 87; Louisiana, 84; Texas, 74; Georgia, 84; South Carolina, 78; North Carolina, 78; United States, 82.1.

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE REPORT.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Journal of Commerce says:

North Carolina—Recent rains have greatly improved the prospects for the crop. The prospects are the weed is now growing rapidly and fruiting well; generally speaking the crop is well cultivated and free from insects. The plant is small, but strong and healthy, and stands are generally poor. The season is about two weeks late.

South Carolina—Drouth and heat retarded growth of cotton and the plant is about two weeks late. Recent rains have improved prospects, and the crop is making satisfactory progress. Stands are irregular and generally poor, but fruiting is generally good. The crop is in excellent condition and free from insects.

Prospects in Georgia and Florida are generally satisfactory and better than a year ago.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Liverpool was down. It is said, on southern and continental selling. One market spreader is now pointing to sympathy, but soon after opening there was evidence of a good demand from spot sources. This started a wave of short covering, which sent the market up some 10 points in a very short while. It is believed there were several large short lines covered today. The bulls contend that around the 12c basis is a good buying point, regardless of conditions, as they believe the trade will take the contracts on that level. There were no rains shown on the map over the weather bulletin. This, of course, is very favorable for buying. You hear a great many bearish expressions, however, and many contend that with continued favorable weather we will see much lower prices. Wall street operators are said to be selling against the sellers today.—Anderson.

NEW YORK STOCK LETTER

NEW YORK, July 28.—The market shows remarkable strength and an advancing tendency in all of the active issues. We believe in high er prices and think it advisable to increase holdings on all reactions as the crop situation is the dominating factor and a corn crop equal to the one harvested last year seems practically assured. This will guarantee the railroads large earnings for another year at least. The prospects of the passage of the currency bill seem good, and if this occurs following a period of active speculation will follow.—Potter.

Liverpool it is said, was sold off on southern selling and heavy continental selling. Private cables to the past two weeks, the largest in the history of many bales of new cotton at this point and the claim that picking would be general over a large part of that state before this week's end caused considerable selling by the bear side and the marked eased off under the selling to sterling at noon at a net advance of only 1 to 2 points.

Map complete indicates clearing in east. Generally fair; cooler in Texas and south Texas, but prospects for some rain in Alabama.

STOCK GOSSIP

Low-Warren summary: Cotton belt reports to Memphis indicate condition of crop of 82.1, a gain of 3-10 of 1 per cent for the month. However, the Atlanta Journal's figure of 82 is nearer to get close to the public. The former will give personal attention to giving out the figures its own head and board of directors. The Buckeye Pipe Line company declared a dividend of $5 share today, payable August 15. Report of the committee on railway mail pay, says railroads are entitled to $125,000,000 a year for carrying mails. Ambassador Wilson presented plan for carrying out the president's policy in our Mexican relations which may be opposed by Bryan. Mediation plans still strongly talked of. The Journal's retail trade index 111, up 1 point. Twelve industrials advanced .11; twenty rails advanced .16.

The steel corporation earnings will be published tomorrow. It is expected the quarter will show over $38,000,000. Look for the advance to continue, and would increase holdings on any recession of copper, Utah and Reading and Steel. Hear the pool will advance Brooklyn Rapid Transit soon. Look for Harriman dividend in one of the best 6 per cent stocks on the list—Potter.

Financial bureau says: Information channels expect further recovery. We would buy tne standard rails on reactions with the intention to secure good profits.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Hartsell, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat: Local sentiment is bearish, and outside buying power small. It looks as though it would be difficult to bring about a rally.

Corn: We look for a market of very nervous characteristics for the next few days and you must have a good wetting down before it will be safe to expect any permanent recession in prices.

Oats: The general run of threshing returns continue to be very encouraging. This condition is making short sellers less confident and inducing buying by shorts.

Provisions: The market continues firm, and cash trade is fairly satisfactory.

I believe corn and oats are going considerably higher. When the public realizes the great amount of damage already done to corn, the market will get on fire.—Rycroft.

Grain belt forecast:

Illinois: Fair, except probably thunder storms in north.

Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Dakotas: Showers; warmer.

Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas: Fair.

Snow says: My reports to date, covering at least one-third of the country, show very heavy damage already suffered by corn, with the crop now half in the bag and the spring probable disaster over a large part of the breadth in the south half of the belt. Iowa and Kansas, Tennessee and Kentucky show heavy losses since July 1. Illinois and Indiana have gone back in Minnesota and Dakotas making her only promise. The crop in Kansas, outside of a few eastern counties, is theoretically a failure, and conditions now lowest ever in that state. Nebraska's 2,000,000 acres bade fair to make and crop south of the Platte and west of Lincoln is threatened with practical failure. Iowa is a whole in a good shape, although drouth complaints are becoming numerous, while Missouri is spotted, but has fine prospects generally.

Our advice of actual wheat threshing results we regard as that the winter wheat crop will reach and probably exceed 500,000,000 bushels, spring wheat promises 250,000,000 bushels, so the total crop will be about the same as the year of 1912, 750,000,000 bushels.—Rycroft.

Cotton: Cotton crop belt reports this morning continue to show heavy deterioration in corn in Texas and Nebraska. South of the Platte appears to be in fair condition.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS BROAD AND STRONG

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley and St. Paul Led

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—The features of this morning's strong opening with New Haven and Unsolicitated Copper, was the rising 1½ points, Great Northern, Reading, Chesapeake and Ohio and other active issues rose from material fractions to a point. Trading was active, with indications of unusual breadth.

Bull sentiment maintained the upper hand and pulled the list considerably higher, despite realizing sales and offerings by the bears. Chesapeake & Ohio was run up 2¾ to 2 5-8 and numerous other shares gained from 1 to 2 points.

In the first hour of today's stock market a decided broadening of activity was seen together with a further advance in prices. Virtually all the leaders were up a point or more with greater gains in some specialties. Trading was largely professional, however, and no small part of the short interest resulted from a settlement of the short interest.

Bull sentiment the approach of noon business slackened in marked manner, but without much effect on prices. The principal feature was the sharp drawal by the eastern railroads of their grievance. thus opening the way to amicable arbitration of controversy of which rumors in recent days were weak, breaking into new low ground on the first hour.

Bonds steady.

Substantial business expanded and there was further absorption for foreign account, contributing to the strength of the market. The market failed to bring out the supply of stocks instrumental in the early rise. This encouraged the bull leaders. American Express lost six other 5 points, declining to 145.

Trading in the last hour session was its comparative dullness. Business fell to the level of the first hour's dullness. Prices generally showed little tendency to yield, even when moderate pressure was directed against certain issues.

Substantial recessions extending to over 1 point from the best were recorded from a number of dull dealings. There was no renewal of operations by bears.

Closed irregular.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Poultry Show For Atlanta the First Week in December

THE management of the Southern International Poultry association will again, this year put over at the auditorium-armory another great poultry and pigeon show. The past two shows conducted by the Southern International Poultry association were undoubtedly two of the most remarkable shows ever held in any section of the country, and made for Atlanta and the southern breeders a reputation national in scope, and gave to the south an advertisement that no estimate in dollars and cents could possibly be placed upon its actual value. The poultry interest of the south today would not be what it is at present had it not been for those two great shows, and while the work and expense has practically been placed upon a few people, the two shows held by this association have gone down in history and made for Georgia a reputation that will never be forgotten.

The third annual show, which will be conducted at the auditorium-armory the first week in December, 1913, will probably be the most important of any show ever conducted by this association. It will be national in scope, liberal in view and conducted for the benefit of the people.

Hundreds of eastern and western breeders who realize the importance of exhibiting at this show will be in Atlanta. The southern breeders have at last realized the necessity and importance of being represented at this great show, and Atlanta will see again this year another poultry show such as will not be conducted anywhere within hundreds of miles of this city during that coming season. The management of this show realize the importance of keeping these shows up to the highest standard and are leaving nothing undone to make the third annual show go down in history as one of the greatest events this country has ever seen. There are but few people who know it, but last year Atlanta conducted probable the third largest and best poultry show cooped in the United States, and the management of this association does not intend to stop until some day Atlanta can coop the largest poultry show ever cooped in the United States. It can be done, and the spirit of this section of country is inclined in that direction, and will never stop until these things have been possible and put over in actual reality right here in Atlanta.

The opportunities offered and the benefits derived from a national poultry show such as the Southern International Poultry association show cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, and there are but few people who realize the actual value these great shows are to a community or to the industry; but, at a great expense and lots of work, the management of this association has conducted these shows, and will continue to do so. The poultry industry means to the south a stepping stone to something far greater, and as these products are of so much more importance, and the opportunities offered are so great throughout the entire south, it is known that only through the holding of annual exhibitions are the best possible means of keeping this industry in the front and to the stage it should be. Hundreds of letters have already been received from many eastern and western breeders signifying their intention of making large displays at this national show during the first week in December, and the southern breeders who do not take advantage of this opportunity and leave no stone unturned to get business will miss a chance of a lifetime to put dollars in their pockets that many a shrewd eastern and western breeder will be glad to hand to himself of. The chances are here for every one who will make an effort, and it is by these their efforts that success is obtained; and when one allows the great opportunities offered them to pass unnoticed, they are the ones who fail to receive the benefits offered them. If you have not already made arrangements to make a large display at the coming show, you should by all means get in touch with the secretary and endeavor yourself to receive some of the benefits that are offered you through the Southern International Poultry show at the auditorium-armory the first week in December, 1913. The man who always pushes his business and is on the alert at all times to make a dollar for himself is offered opportunities here that do not come every day, and it is up to him to take advantage of the chance that presents itself here for him to be benefited.

Your very truly,

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Charlestown, W. Va.

Will you be kind enough to give me, who wants to raise the good points of Rose Comb Rhode Island Red chickens? I mean the show points as to color (light or dark), feather and general conformation.

I will be very grateful to you for this information.

H. H. M'C.

ANSWER.

If you are breeding Rhode Island Reds or any other standard variety of chickens you cannot successfully do so or accomplish very much without the use of a Standard of Perfection which I can furnish you for $2. This book gives the exact color, shape, etc., that is required for all standard varieties of chickens, and it is poultryman's Bible that he must guided by if he ever accomplishes his desires in life.

The proper color for a Rhode Island Red is a rich brilliant red in the male bird. The shade of color in neck, back, breast and body should be as near one uniform shade as possible. The tail coverings should be a rich black, and as much black as possible should be produced in the wing feathers but not enough to show on the outside when the feathers are folded. A rich active lively appearance of being polished or varnished should show on the entire outside color of a male. No matter the better. No black or smut should appear on the under surface color in any section of the bird. The females should be a rich red in color also with same color tail and wing markings as the male. It is almost impossible to get females that will hold their color as when they are laying the oil disappears from the plumage and they will fade in color. However, by carefully reading the Standard you will get some idea of what color you must breed for to get your birds to stand requirements and produce the kind that is required to win and will sell for the highest prices.

agency, has sold for Clarence Blosser to James O. Wynn a six-room bungalow on East Seventeenth street, Ansley Park, for $5,750. The lot is 50x200. Mr. Wynn gave as part payment a lot 60x150 on the north side of the Prado valued at $2,750.

CONVENTION OPENS.

The convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges opened its annual convention at Winnipeg Monday. The convention will be in session three days, but side trips will be taken through the Canadian northwest, which will extend the absence of the delegates to about sixteen days.

S. B. Turman is among the local delegates. Harris G. White, president of the Atlanta Real Estate board, bears an official invitation to the convention to meet in Atlanta in 1916.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

There are some fairly important sales in the title examination stage, and two or three important leases that are going through the preliminary stages.

Inquiries are steadily coming in, and while only a small percentage of them bears fruit, still a good volume of inquiries is always preliminary to a revival of business.

Every general condition points to a brisk business in the fall.

IVY STREET WORK.

The street car company has laid one track practically all the distance on Ivy street.

When it has completed its work the county forces will take hold and lay the pavement. Ivy street will then be practically level from Peachtree street south to Decatur street.

It is expected that considerable building activity will follow the completion of the street, for there have already been several lease negotiations.

OTHER STREET WORK.

Work on Whitehall and West Peachtree streets will also be given a considerable headway this fall.

Main thoroughfares will then be in pretty fair shape in respect to improved grades, although work could be carried further on them to a distinct advantage.

BACON TAKES THE OATH FOR HIS FOURTH TERM

Senior Georgia Senator First to Be Elected by the People

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The credentials of Senator Bacon, who was recently elected by the people of Georgia to a fourth term in the United States senate, were presented today by Senator Hoke Smith, following which the senior senator was escorted to the vice president's desk and there took the oath of office for a fourth time. Mr. Bacon is not only the first Georgian to be four times elected to the senate, but he is also the first man ever named at a popular election for the United States senate.

In presenting Mr. Bacon to be sworn, Senator Smith called attention to the fact that for twenty years the advocates of popular government have sought to have senators elected by the people, and that recently a constitutional amendment for this purpose was ratified by a sufficient number of states.

"On July 15," said Mr. Smith, "the first election was held under the new amendment and in the state of Georgia the people for the first time selected a United States senator at the ballot box.

"It is with pleasure that I bring to the attention of the senate the fact that without opposition the senior senator from Georgia received all the votes cast in this election, and his credentials are here, and have been read, and that he is here. I ask that an opportunity be given that he may qualify as elected."

After taking the oath Senator Bacon shook hands with the vice president, and with his colleague, following which he was warmly congratulated by members of the senate. Some of the younger senators humorously "welcomed" Mr. Bacon to the senate.

FIREMAN KILLED WHEN FREIGHT TURNED OVER

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 28.—Will Harrison, a fireman, was instantly killed and two negro employes were severely scalded when a Central of Georgia freight engine pulling a westbound train over the Columbus and Western railroad turned over last night at Kellyton, Alabama.

The wrecking crew had the road cleared at noon today. The Seminole Flyer was detoured by Montgomery last night.

NEGRO KICKED OFF TRAIN AND DROWNS IN RIVER

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 28.—Kicked off a work train by a fellow workman, a young negro named Sonny Williams, whose home was in Waycross, was drowned in the Altamaha river at Doctortown this morning.

CURRENCY BILL WILL BE REPORTED AS FRAMED

Few Changes Will Be Made by Banking Committee, President Wilson Believes

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—President Wilson believes the administration currency bill will be reported by the house banking committee substantially as it was framed.

In discussing the situation with callers today he made it clear that the bill would not be materially altered and that differences in the committee would be reconciled. It is now practically certain that the administration bill will be carried to the caucus, where it will be a party measure. That is the impression gained at the White House from those who have talked over the situation with the president.

Representative Wingo, of Alabama, who previously had been classed among the insurgent Democrats, was a White House caller today. He predicted that the administration bill, without any important changes, would be reported this week, taken up next Monday by the caucus and adopted in much the same form.

Chairman Glass announced at the White House today that the program in his committee would be to vote on the various amendments of the administration bill. He counted on a vote of at least ten to four for the administration measure.

DALLAS WOMAN FOUND WITH HER THROAT CUT

Mary Brown, Stenographer, Mysteriously Murdered in Washroom of Office

(By Associated Press.)

DALLAS, Tex., July 28.—Mystery surrounds the death of Florence Brown, twenty-seven, whose body was found today in the washroom of a real estate office in Dallas, with her throat cut.

When discovered the body was still warm. Blood was spattered over the walls and floor of the room and discolored water had been left in the wash basin, where some one had apparently washed bloody hands. No instrument was found with which the act could have been committed.

Miss Brown reported for work at 8:30 o'clock and was known to have been alone in the office for half an hour. Her left arm showed teeth marks, according to the police, and two rings had been almost torn from the fingers. She was the daughter of a policeman.

WAREHOUSE STOCKHOLDERS TO MEET AT JACKSON

At that time officers will be elected for the year and business matters of importance transacted. The officers at present include S. J. Smith, president; E. L. Walthall, secretary, and J. M. Gaston, general manager.

PROGRESSIVES DESERT SMOOT'S LEADERSHIP

Eleven Will Support LaFollette's Substitute Tariff Schedule

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Dissatisfaction among progressive Republican senators over the leadership taken by Senator Smoot in the tariff fight now under way resulted in a conference today in which it was tentatively agreed to support Senator La Follette's substitute schedules on wool, cotton and several other divisions of the tariff bill. Eleven senators were present at the conference.

Votes on amendments last week showed many of the progressive Republicans to be at variance with the balance of the Republican side on certain items. It is understood now that an attempt will be made to substitute the La Follette wool schedule for that which has already been introduced by Senator Smoot.

In today's conference presided over by Senator Clapp, were Senators Borah, Bristow, Cranford, Sterling, Cummins, Kenyon, La Follette, Grenna, Norris and Works. Another conference will be held in a few days and each member will present amendments which he proposes to support in the senate.

Senator La Follette outlined substitutes which he will propose to the wool and cotton schedules next week, when he will begin his attack on these schedules of the Democratic bill. Senator Kenyon will urge amendments placing on the free list all articles in control of a monopoly, one of them being aluminum.

Senator Cummins has an amendment to tax all commodities sold through stock exchanges, similar to the cotton futures stamp tax included in the Democratic bill. Other progressive Republican senators are to propose amendments which the conference will consider.

GOV. SULZER INDORSES WOMAN SUFFRAGE FIGHT

Always Has and Always Expects to Favor Equal Rights, He Says

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—The men's league for women's suffrage has received Governor Sulzer's indorsement to a petition which it is circulating to present the United States senate urging a suffrage amendment to the constitution. R. Beadle, secretary of the league, quotes the governor as making this emphatic stand in favor of the women's cause:

"I am now and always have been and always expect to be in favor of granting women the same political rights that men possess. There should be no abridgment in the United States of the political rights of women just because they are women. In my judgment women can vote just as honestly and just as intelligently as a man. I hope the day will come when this view will be expressed in the constitution of our country."

OFFER REWARD OF $100 FOR POLICEMAN'S SLAYER

Posse Scours Country for Clem Poole, Who Killed Policeman Cook

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., July 28.—Near midnight last night Policeman Harry Cook was shot and instantly killed by Clem Poole, while the officer was advancing on Poole to arrest him.

Poole escaped and although a posse scoured this section using bloodhounds until this morning he has not been caught.

Two officers responded to a call from Poole's wife, who stated that her husband had shot at her. The man is also said to have threatened one of the brothers only a short time before.

The policeman was killed on First avenue, near the Morris street intersection. The weapon used was of .32-caliber pistol. The bullet entered the left side, passing into the heart and causing instant death.

Henry Mitchell, who had accompanied the officer, grappled with Poole after he had fired and succeeded in wresting the weapon from him, but the man jumped down a high embankment nearby and was lost in the darkness.

This morning the city offered a $100 reward for Poole's capture. Cook was one of the most valuable policemen ever employed by the city, being cool-headed and possessing the greatest bravery. His death has caused a decided stir here. He was about thirty-five years old and is survived by his wife.

INSANITY NOT PREVALENT AMONG AMERICAN TROOPS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Insanity among the American troops serving in the Philippines is not prevalent and a common belief to that effect is disproved by figures collected by the surgeon general. These show there are more discharges from the army for mental ailments in the United States than in the islands, the figures being 2.78 per 1,000 for the former and 2.10 for the latter.

SAYS DAVIDSON'S ATTACK ON CHURCH WAS ILL-TIMED

Episcopal Clergyman Who Burned His Vestments Is Facing Church Trial

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 28.—Rev. J. W. C. Johnson, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, this city, a member of the committee which has been investigating charges preferred against Rev. Charles Steele Davidson, declined to discuss the burning by Mr. Davidson of his vestments and prayer book at the gate of Monticello, and his renunciation of the church, other than to say that the trial of Mr. Davidson would probably not be heard today, but would go over to the September meeting.

Commenting on the sensational attack on the church made by Mr. Davidson, Thomas H. Willcox, of Norfolk, chancellor of the diocese of southern Virginia, wired last night:

"Mr. Charles S. Davidson's attack upon the Episcopal church, made on the eve of the convening in Roanoke on Monday of the court appointed by Bishop Randolph to hear certain charges made against him, was, to say the least, ill-timed."

Chancellor Willcox declined to give particulars as to what the charges against Mr. Willson contain, but it is known that Mr. Davidson has written several letters reflecting upon the bishops of the Episcopal church in Virginia.

THOMASVILLE BEGINS SHIPMENT OF PEARS

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 28.—The shipment of Kieffer pears has begun and there will be from three to four carloads sent from here. As the LeConte pear crop is an entire short this year, it is thought that the prices for Kieffers will be much larger than usual. These pears are used entirely for canning and preserving, as it is a fare thing that they ever ripen sufficiently to be worth eating. They bear shipment well and are not easily bruised or liable to decay en route.
